In This Issue

Dr. Slater Speaks Of ‘Human Dignity’
Page 1

Fund Campaign Reaches Goal
Page 5

Reunions Attract Large Turnouts
Page 7

1,073 Get Degrees At Commencement
Page 11

Drs. Kaiser, Platt Win Alumni Medals
Page 14

Medical School Graduates Report
Page 25

E. Willard Dennis, '10, and Margaret Neary Bakker, '13, new presidents of the alumni and alumnae associations. (See stories, Page 13.)
According to a Nationwide survey:

MORE DOCTORS SMOKE CAMELS
THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE

When three leading independent research organizations asked 113,597 doctors what cigarette they smoked, the brand named most was Camel!
Human Dignity: Thoughts for Graduates—and Others

By John Rothwell Slater
Emeritus Professor of English

Herewith is Professor Slater's baccalaureate address at the University's 99th annual Commencement. There have been so many requests for copies of his address, both by those who heard it and those who were unable to be present, that the REVIEW presents the full text so that all alumni and alumnae of the University may enjoy Professor Slater's warm and inspiring words.

Since 1851, when the University graduated its first class, it has been traditional to precede formal graduation exercises by a Sunday baccalaureate sermon or address. Retention of this inherited custom in an age of secularization has been questioned. Some would discard all forms that seem to have outlived their origin. Such a rule would eliminate many things besides this, such as caps and gowns, our national anthem, religious rites for non-religious marriages. Nothing is made sacred by calling it so. The word "sanction," meaning in ethics a subjective principle or motive inciting to moral action, signifies in law a threatened penalty for violation of a code—the exact opposite. What started as blessing may end as curse, or at least as anachronism. Yet by some obscure instinct we still set apart this one hour after three or four years, when graduates of all the schools may briefly consider what it means to be a scholar.

On a so-called day of rest, public speakers should be forbidden to view with alarm. They should view with philosophic calm the problems which confront us as a nation, and with spiritual insight the inner conflicts that face us all. Many of you will soon be asking yourselves tomorrow noon on Gibbs Street sidewalk, or later in the summer when gowns are in mothballs and diplomas in the attic—"Is this all?" After climax, anti-climax; after a lift, a letting down. For years of labor you get a degree, handshakes and smiles, and courteous academic dismissal. Is that all? Is what all? These processions and recessions, this music, those buildings and playing fields by the river. Those classrooms and laboratories, lectures, tests, grades; all that talk, repetition of the obvious and evasion of the inevitable—is that all? Games won or lost, what do they matter? New friends, discovered early or late, soon to be separated, are they all? What will it all amount to by the middle July?

The answer is not learning alone, not skill, business aptitude or professional competence. Those you have in some measure acquired, or you would not be here. Every graduate of this University with any of its degrees has earned respect. Many have won honors. We salute you one and all for success in your adventures among the arts and sciences. There is so much more to learn than any of us know, so many unanswered questions about nature and society, that no well educated person in this hall can be proud. We admit to ourselves, though perhaps not in public, that humility should be first rather than last of academic virtues. We have all had so much to unlearn before we could even begin with Socrates and Einstein.

Something besides learning you may have acquired by your studies of human achievement. That is a sense for human dignity. This baccalaureate is the University's tribute to your own new dignity. What is dignity? The philosopher Whitehead said that without the habitual presence of greatness, moral education is impossible. Reading history and biography, including the history of science and the arts, you have had—or could have had—the presence of greatness. Great men rose mostly from obscurity and came up the hard way. Genius with persistence made them what they were. Neither alone would have sufficed. In the slow progress of the human race there have been in each century only a few men whose names have long survived; some for great deeds, some for great words, some for showing, even after death, what man can become when he rises into the realm of the universal.

At the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, visitors stand silent. In his Doric temple above the Potomac the gaunt bronze giant sits there day and night, year in, year out, facing east, waiting for justice and mercy to unite the United States. He has a long time to wait. Sooner or later he sees us all, is sorry for us all, hopes for the best, looks far beyond us; repose with awareness. His dignity none saw living, none now denies. He endures, seeing the invisible.

At the Jefferson Memorial, in his marble rotunda with its Pantheon dome, the tall bronze Virginian stands up on his black granite pedestal, not for mercy but for defiance. Around the circular frieze below the dome is his immortal sentence. “I have sworn upon the altar of God eternal hostility against every form of tyranny over the mind of man.” The whole building is his round white oath of allegiance to liberty; a beautiful thing for the free and the oppressed; a beautiful dream still unrealized, like America itself.

Among Jefferson’s sentences on the walls, it is not so familiarly a preambles of the Declaration that impresses a reader, but this less known passage from his denunciation of slavery: “God who gave us life gave us liberty. Can the liberties of a nation be secure when we have removed a conviction that these liberties are the gift of God?” Jefferson, like Franklin and Thomas Paine, was a deist of the Age of Reason, opposed by Calvinist orthodoxy which he rejected. But, like them and like Lincoln, he believed in the Supreme Being to whom all men owe reverence and obedience, with or without theology. Has there been any great American who denied divinity? Will there ever be?

When man becomes his own God, proposing physical and intellectual improvement of the human race as a complete substitute for religion, we have scientific humanism or naturalism. When modestly agnostic and tolerant, it is respectable. When militantly atheistic and intolerant, it shares the logical fallacy of all universal negatives, and the unconscious cruelty of those who destroy the harmless faith of others.

If there is nothing higher than man, we might almost give up hope for a better society than ours. Highly educated men, in this land and others, are not wise enough or good enough to guide us without a moral sense higher than expediency. The dialectical materialism of Marx and the secret scientific warfare of the west converge toward chaos. Communism is based on the indignity of the individual. So is North American race prejudice, our own national disgrace. Both treat men in masses, not as persons. “A man’s a man for a’ that,” not as child of revolution but as child of God. Human dignity and human brotherhood in a godless world would be the consolations of despair.

Dignity still living and honored is not yet absent from the world. Next week there lands on our shores for the first time a distinguished Alsatian named Albert Schweitzer. Though a great productive scholar in philosophy, theology, and musicology, he began at the rather late age of thirty the study of medicine, in order to spend his best years as a medical missionary in equatorial Africa. Some call him one of the greatest men now living, because he has spent great talents ministering to the poor and ignorant, like Jesus and Saint Paul. One of his masters is Bach, another Goethe—a devout Lutheran musician, and a pantheistic humanist poet. He has written eloquently of both. Schweitzer comes to America solely to speak in July at the Goethe Bicentennial in Colorado. His earlier Frankfurt lectures on Goethe before the war seem to have said all that could be said, yet doubtless he will find more to praise. Not all great men admire other great men. Professional jealousy is a weakness of many scientists and artists. It is often best not to know too well the private lives of genius. Some heroes are tarnished by the truth. But Schweitzer like Goethe is without jealousy. Such men “live by their admirations, not by their disdains.”

Human dignity is not confined to great men. It is commonest among the humble. Such American poets as Walt Whitman, Edwin Arlington Robinson, Carl Sandburg, and Robert Frost have found it far and wide. Prevalent degradation of crude American types in naturalistic fiction and drama should not blind us to the real quality of our people. Americans are not degenerates. Decency is not out of fashion, except in print. This literature of indignity has perhaps some place as protest against social injustice, but seldom as fine art. It violates the principle of proportion. The question about a dirty book is whether the author aims at reform or notoriety.

Arthur Miller, in a prize-winning drama entitled “Death of a Salesman,” shows a different angle on our so-called “free enterprise” and “American way of life.” Frustration of a third-rate salesman by increasing age and competition, his quarrels with his sons, the breakup of his family, are not due chiefly to poverty, drink, or sex. They arise because all the people are drifting. They do not know why they keep on hurting each other. They do not know who they really are. Only the long-suffering wife tells the truth about her husband, in an outburst to her scornful sons when she sees his collapse is near. His body and soul are fast going to pieces. He has lost his illusions, and never had anything else. She says:

I don’t say he’s a great man. A small man can be just as exhausted as a great man. His name was never in the paper. He’s not the finest character that ever lived. But he’s a human being, and a terrible thing is happening to him. So attention must be paid. He’s not to be allowed to fall into his grave like an old dog. Attention, attention must be finally paid to such a person.

This grim drama’s protest against utter defeat and denial of human dignity, neither tragedy nor pathos but elemental truth, cuts deeper than Manhattan can often stand. Yet the play is sold out months in advance.

Human dignity does not come from genius, mediocrity, or failure. Dignity comes from something in us all which heredity and environment can neither give nor take away. Dignity belongs to us as persons, endowed by the Almighty with reason, feeling, and will. What we really are, what we might become if once released, God only knows. There must be some eternal factor working here and now in time and space. If human life, like animal life, were only a transient organic pattern of electrochemical energy, and consciousness only a by-product of sensory and motor mechanism, what would become of dignity?

Dignity is worth, value, meaning. Being a form of spiritual energy without mass, it is imponderable, and cannot be measured in centimeters, grams, seconds, volts, or dollars. Where is Lincoln’s dignity? Not in the dust that was his brain, or the skull that held it; not in the paper he wrote on, or the bronze of his image; not in Washington, Gettysburg, or Springfield; least of all in the tomb, for Lincoln lives. His dignity resides only in the subtle essences of imagination, poetry, and reverence. Where do they live? Are they at home here?

This campus is primarily a place for reason, facts, research. But the world is not ruled by reason, though it ought to be. It is ruled chiefly by feeling, good or bad. There is much good will, acting slowly, with vacillation and delay. But prejudice, fear, and hatred act fast and wrong. Because society is not ruled by reason, there can be no exact science of human relations. But there is an art, based on respect, which cannot be taught, only practiced.

High intelligence and superior education are not virtues but responsibilities. The virtues of man are courage and kindness. The virtues of woman are patience and love. Courage for the inevitable; kindness for the stranger; patience with the impatient; love for the unlovely and the lost. These virtues are not explained by physiology or psychology. They are not born in us. They grow with living, like beauty in the spring. When we see them anywhere in men or women, young or old, there is dignity.

When we cannot see them, perhaps dignity has been thwarted and wronged, yet remains latent, waiting for a crisis. Most men rise above their level once in a lifetime. To discover anyone’s hidden, silent dignity is a happy surprise, a flash of high potential, which for a moment lights the way ahead. Spirit shines through; watch for it.

In 1930 this River Campus was dedicated to search for truth. Truth has been found here, and more will be. One of the less known fathers of American liberty, Roger Williams, impatient of sectarians, called himself only a seeker. We are all seekers. When we stop seeking, we are through. “As long as grass grows and rivers run,” there will be seekers here.

Baccalaureate Sunday brings to some of you a secret challenge which may last until you can pass it on. Like the Genesee in the song, you will be “gathering force along your steadfast way.” In all your own chosen ways of defending the dignity and promoting the welfare of others, your University hopes that you yourselves may long fare well.

---R---

Eastman Alumni Elect Officers

Raymond J. Hasenauer Sr. has been elected president of the Rochester Chapter of the newly-organized Eastman School of Music Alumni Association. The chapter was host to members of the senior class at a dinner on June 15 at the Sheraton Hotel. Other officers were elected as follows:

Vice-president, Mrs. Ruth Zimmerman Steese; recording secretary, Rodney Peterson, and treasurer, Mrs. Frances DeWitt Babcock. Dr. A. Irvine McHose, Benjamin Scammell and Paul Allen comprised the nominating committee.

Ann Bayer is the new Eastman School alumni secretary, coordinating activities of chapters being formed in other cities.

Special guests at the chapter’s opening dinner were Provost and Mrs. Donald W. Gilbert, Raymond L. Thompson, University vice-president and treasurer, and Mrs. Thompson, M. Herbert Eisenhart, chairman of the University’s Board of Trustees, and Mrs. Eisenhart, Charles Hutchison, also a trustee, and Mrs. Hutchison, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Larson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Sec, Dr. and Mrs. Wayne Barlow, and Dr. and Mrs. McHose.

Dr. Howard Hanson, Director of the School, addressed the seniors. The dinner committee included Thomas Canning, Mrs. Elizabeth Hazelline Gibaud, Henry Osborne, John Livermore, Mrs. Dorothy White O’Donnell, and for the senior class, Miss Betty Garelick.
At the Alumnae Commencement Dinner (from left): President Alan Valentine, Virginia Townsend Miller, 35, Alumnae Fund chairman; Margaret Neary Bakker, '13, alumnae president; Dr. W. Albert Noyes Jr., speaker; Helen Scott Wight, '28, retiring president.

Members of the Class of '39 shown at their reunion at Buholtz Flats.

The Class of '24 at the Alumnae Reunion Luncheon on the Prince Street Campus.
Alumni-Alumnae Fund Campaign Goes Over Top

If any doubts existed as to the spirit and loyalty of University of Rochester alumni and alumnae, they have been thoroughly dispelled by the results of the precedent-breaking University-wide Annual Alumni-Alumnae Giving Funds campaign.

The goal was $40,000. The amount raised, as of July 1, was $40,150.00, equivalent to the income from a “living endowment” of $1,000,000.

This heart-warming achievement was made possible by the energy, enthusiasm and cooperation of the group chairmen, class fund managers, and the hundreds of class agents who conducted the campaign under the inspired leadership of Chairman James W. Gray, ’25, and the participation of the University’s thousands of graduates. All of which adds up to pride in what the University of Rochester has accomplished and faith in its great future.

The University’s gratitude for this remarkable display of alumni and alumnae support was expressed by President Valentine, Provost Gilbert and Vice-president and Treasurer Thompson.

“No better evidence could be given that our graduates consider themselves partners in the University and its achievements in education and research,” said Provost Gilbert. “It is an inspiration to the administration, the faculty and the students alike. With such support from its alumni and alumnae, the University cannot fail to rise to even greater heights in the future.”

Men of ’25 Lead Alumni Drive; 34 Classes Reach or Exceed 100%

ABLE leadership and organizing skill of General Chairman James W. Gray, ’25, enthusiastic efforts of class fund managers and their class teams, and generous response from the alumni of the Men’s College spelled a smashing success for the 1949 Alumni Fund.

The results:

A total of $24,622 raised by 2,237 alumni for 100.5 per cent of quota, as compared with $21,609 from 1,716 contributors in 1948.

A new record of 56 per cent of alumni participating as compared with 48 per cent last year.

Marked increase in the number of Century Club members, consisting of individual givers of $100 or more. This year the number rose to 46, as compared with 29 charter members in 1948. James E. McGhee, ’19, was the sparkplug for this new record as chairman of the Special Gifts Committee.

Award to the Class of 1925 of the Hoeing Cup, given on the basis of living and located members contributing, per cent of dollar quota obtained, and the amount of dollars received. The Class of 1925, led by Carl Lauterbach as fund manager, had 66 members, or 79 per cent.

Alumnae Fund Sets New Record; Shows 30% Increase Over 1948

An all-time record was set by graduates of the College for Women in the 1949 Alumnae Fund effort under the chairmanship of Virginia Townsend Miller, ’35.

With gifts totaling $7,627 to the Alumnae Scholarship fund from 1,519 contributors, they soared to 102 per cent of their assigned quota of $7,500.

Of the 3,009 living alumnae of the College for Women, 50 per cent participated in the 1949 Fund, an enviable record among alumnae funds throughout the country for high percentage of donors. Not more than half a dozen women’s colleges in the country report over 50 per cent of their alumnae participating.

The amount raised this year is 30 per cent above that of 1948, and the number of donors is 20 per cent higher.

Funds raised by this year’s campaign will be used for increased support of the scholarship program at the College for Women.

Class agents in each decade leading in percentage of contributors and of quota were honored at the annual Alumnae Commencement Dinner at which results of the drive were reported. They were given purchase certificates for the special University of Rochester edition of Wedg-

(Continued on Page 19)
Joseph B. Platt, '37, shown (left) receiving the Alumni Medal from Dean Wilder; (right) Dr. Albert D. Kaiser, '09 (with armband), receives Alumni Medal from Classmate Cornelius R. Wright. (See story, Page 14.)

Members of the senior class posed for this picture at the Alumnae Dinner.

Carl Lauterbach, fund manager for '25, shown receiving the Hoeing Cup from James W. Gray, general chairman; (right): two mother-daughter pairs at the Alumnae Commencement Dinner (from left): Martha Graham Edson, '45; Lucia Morey Graham, '08; Marian Alice Bacon, '49, president of the Students’ Association; Mary Edwards Bacon, '16.
ALUMNI reunions at the University's 99th Commencement drew the biggest turnout since pre-war days, and were climaxxed by the annual Alumni Dinner in Todd Union which drew a capacity attendance of 420.

Highlights of the dinner were the report on the resoundingly victorious Alumni Fund drive; the election of E. Willard Dennis, '10, as alumni president; the Alumni Awards to Dr. Albert D. Kaiser, '09, and Joseph B. Platt, '37; the presence of President Valentine, home on a three-day flying visit from the Hague especially to attend the Commencement events; the award of the Cubley Cup to the redoubtable Class of 1899, and a spirited talk by Dr. Howard Hanson, Director of the Eastman School of Music.

The annual alumni dance in Todd Union, where Gene Zacher's excellent orchestra helped the scores of dancers to forget the heat, also set a new high in attendance.

The considerable number of grads from out-of-town, who came from New England, Chicago, California and way-stations in between enlivened the reunion events, and the inevitable queries of "How are things going with you?" "What are you doing now?" "Do you remember . . . ?" "Have you heard anything from Tom?", etc. set off countless bull sessions and reminiscences.

Among the many class reunions, that of 1899, celebrating its fiftieth, was outstanding. Thirteen of the class's 16 living and located members gathered for a luncheon at Oak Hill Country Club with Henry E. Lawrence, '89, emeritus professor of mathematics, and William D. Merrell, '91, emeritus professor of biology, as special guests.

The class presented two splendid framed color photographs of Professors Lawrence and Merrell to the University to add to those of other retired faculty members displayed in Todd Union banquet hall. Herbert S. Weet was reunion chairman for '99, and was elected class president. Charles W. Coit was elected vice-president, Curtiss N. Jameson, secretary, and Fred K. Townsend, treasurer.

George C. Gordon traveled the greatest distance to attend '99's reunion, journeying all the way from Miami, Fla. The Rev. Robert B. Pattison of Ossining, N. Y., also of '99, gave the invocation at the Alumni Dinner, and James B. Forbes accepted the Cubley Cup, given to the class with the best reunion representation.

Other outstanding class reunions were those of 1909, under the chairmanship of Cornelius R. Wright, which gathered at the farm of Dr. Kaiser in Fisher's for its fortieth get-together and 1924, headed by William Ewell and Leo East, which staged its twenty-fifth reunion at the Towne Tavern. A special reunion booklet prepared by Mervyn Briggs and others was given to all members of the class.

The class of '39 had its tenth celebration at Buholz Flats, and other groups met at the University Club and other points in and around Rochester.

The oldest class represented at the Alumni Dinner was that of 1889, with Kendall B. Castle, Rochester attorney and UR trustee, as its spokesman. Albert H. Stearns, '97, also a Rochester lawyer, was present to uphold his unique record of never having missed a commencement dinner in 52 years.

—— R ——

Class of '08 Wins Cutler Cup for Alumnae Reunion Attendance

ALUMNAE Commencement weekend activities began on Saturday morning, June 18, with a tour of the buildings on the Prince Street campus conducted by student guides. The reunion luncheons under the chairmanship of Dorothy Lobett Burdick, '24, assisted by Helen Powers, '27, were held at noon on the campus under the historic elms around Anderson circle.

Under the Dix plan, eleven classes gathered: 1906, under the chairmanship of Helen Thomas Kates; 1907, Lucy Higbie Ross; 1908, Ollie Braggins Watkeys; 1924, Emily Rowe; 1925, Mary Channell; 1926, Barbara Haslip Robinson; 1927, Marion Maggs Vicinus; 1943, Gladys Greenwood Holtzman; 1944, Norma Crittenden; 1945, Jean Hamilton and 1946, Dorothy Murphy Meade.

The Cutler Cup, coveted award presented to the class with the largest percentage of its members attending the reunion, was won by the Class of 1908 with 58 per cent. The Class of 1924, which was celebrating its twenty-fifth anniversary, won honorable mention with 40 members present for 56 per cent.

The Dean's Fund, combined gift of the reunion classes, was presented to Dean Janet Howell Clark. This gift which totaled $743 will be used as a discretionary fund by the Dean for undergraduate emergencies. In her acknowledgement, Dean Clark told of the many ways in which the Dean's Fund had been used during the past year and extended her warmest gratitude to the alumnæ for making this much-needed assistance available for needy undergraduates. Three gifts to this year's fund were given in memory of former alumnæ. The Class of 1908 presented its fund in memory of Helen Persons, long an interested and active member of the class. Margaret Frawley was honored by the Class of 1926 for her distinguished service overseas with the American Friends Service Committee and the sacrificial work she did over a period of many years in the interest of displaced families, especially small children. Friends of Thelma Rankin Zoller, '29, former secretary to Hugh Smith and to Charles R. Dalton, presented a gift to the fund in her memory.

Miss Margaret Denny, assistant professor of English, gave a report on "The Investigation of the Committee on Unacademic Activities," telling of some of the lighter experiences that are part of the life of a typical member of the faculty.

Following the luncheons, several of the classes held meetings and supper parties. The Classes of 1908, 1925, 1927, and 1944 held meetings on the campus. A picnic supper at the home of Katherine Barber Swift rounded out the day for 1924, while 1943 entertained at a supper in the Women's Faculty Club. The thirtieth anniversary of 1919 was celebrated at a noon luncheon at the Century Club and 1929 held a twentieth reunion at the Roosevelt. Overnight houseparties were held in Munro Hall dormitory for the many alumnæ who had come from out of town for the weekend.

Members of the reunion classes were taken on a conducted tour of the Medical Center on Sunday afternoon and inspected a portion of the Medical School as well as the new Rivas Psychiatric Clinic. They were then guided on a tour of several of the new buildings at the College for Men, including Harkness Hall, the building of Navy science and tactics, and the new cyclotron. Following the tour they attended the Baccalaureate service and tea.

REGIONAL ASSOCIATIONS

Another successful annual dinner meeting was held by the Buffalo Alumni Association on May 13 at the Automobile Country Club of Buffalo at which Dr. W. Albert Noyes, Jr., head of the UR chemistry Department and a United States delegate to UNESCO, was speaker.

Special guests from the University were Provost Donald W. Gilbert, Charles R. Dalton, director of admissions, Peter J. Prozeller, alumni secretary, and James W. Gray, chairman of the 1949 University Fund drive.

Francis E. Green, '24, was elected president of the Buffalo Association to succeed John J. Zeeb, '22, and other officers were named as follows:

In conjunction with Buffalo alumnæ of the University, and Washington Lodge, F&AM, the association sponsored a concert at the Elks Club Theater on May 20 by the Men's College Glee Club, followed by a dance. The following evening, the Glee Club gave a concert in Niagara Falls High School sponsored by the Kiwanis Key Club, the Forensic Society and Honors Society of Niagara Falls High School, and also appeared on a radio broadcast. Newcomb Prozeller, '39, was chairman of the UR alumni and alumnæ committee which cooperated in the arrangements for the Niagara Falls concert.

The Glee Club gave excellent performances at both concerts before good-sized audiences which thoroughly enjoyed the well-blended chorus singing and the several fine soloists in a program that had good variety, tone and balance.

—R—

Caro Spencer Elected PBK President

Caro FitzSimons Spencer, '27, is the new president of the Iota of New York, University of Rochester chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. She was elected at the chapter's annual meeting on June 18 at the University Club of Rochester to succeed Charles W. Watkeys, '01, emeritus professor of mathematics.

Willard R. Line, '12, professor of chemistry, was elected vice-president, and Eric C. Vance, '25, associate professor of business administration, was re-elected secretary.
Kendall B. Castle, '89, and Albert Stearns, '97, at the Alumni Dinner; (right): Macdonald G. Newcomb, '11 (left) retiring president of the Associated Alumni presents the Cubley Cup to James B. Forbes, '99. (See story Page 7.)

Class of '08, winner of the Cutler Cup, shown with its trophy at the reunion luncheon. (See story, Page 7.)

At the alumnae luncheon (from left): Miss Margaret Denny, assistant professor of English, speaker; Miss Ruth Merrill, director of Cutler Union; Dorothy Loebett Burdick, '24, luncheon chairman; Dean Janet Howell Clark; (right): Officers of the Rochester chapter of the Eastman School Alumni Association (from left): Raymond J. Hasenauer, president; Ruth Zimmerman Steese, vice-president; Frances Dewitt Babcock, treasurer; Rodney Peterson, secretary.

Members of the Class of '09 at their reunion at Dr. Albert Kaiser's farm at Fisher's.

Members of the Class of '49 shown at the Alumni Dinner in Todd Union.
1,073 Degrees Awarded by University at Its 99th Commencement

The University of Rochester's notable development and expanded scope were strikingly illustrated at its ninety-ninth annual Commencement, which was record-breaking in several respects.

A total of 1,073 degrees and diplomas was awarded to the graduates of its various schools and colleges, by far the largest number in the University's nearly century-old history.

The ceremonies drew so many people to the Eastman Theatre—more than 4,000—that the auditorium was not large enough to hold them all, even with standees, and some were not able to get inside. The University expressed its regret that not all who wanted to see the exercises were able to do so because of the seating limitations.

In addition to the 1,073 awards to undergraduate and graduate students, honorary degrees were conferred on five men and one woman for distinguished achievements in American educational and national life.

An international aspect was given to the occasion by the presence of President Valentine, who flew home from the Hague to preside at the Commencement, and of Francis Bowes Sayre, noted U.S. diplomat who is now the American representative on the Trusteeship Council of the United Nations. Sayre was the principal speaker and was awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, for which he was presented by Dr. Dexter Perkins.

The baccalaureate service on Sunday afternoon June 19, followed by the traditional faculty and administration reception for the graduates and their families, drew more than 3,000 persons to Eastman Quadrangle, River Campus. (For text of Dr. John R. Slater’s baccalaureate address, see Page 1.)

Both Sayre, in his address to the graduates, and President Valentine, in his remarks at the Alumnae Commencement dinner the preceding evening, dwelt on the world situation and emphasized that the basic conflict which threatens mankind is not alone the struggle between Communism and the Western world, but between the forces of good and evil—between two fundamentally opposed philosophies—"belief in a world of moral law and ordered justice as against a world of terrorism and the barbaric rule of sheer force."

"Whether we like it or not, America has thrust upon it the responsibility of world leadership," said Sayre. "We are now faced with the supreme opportunity of history.

The fate of Western civilization—its very life—depends upon the direction of our leadership. Whether or not the United States and the defenders of that civilization go down under attack or go forward to new heights depends upon the quality and vision of American leadership in the perilous days ahead, and not upon possession of the deadliest and most powerful military weapons."

Honorary degrees were conferred also upon:

Maj. Gen. Edward Peck Curtis, of Rochester, vice-president of Eastman Kodak Company, a leader in civic and national affairs, with an outstanding military career in World War II.

Gioacchino Failla, director of radiology research at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, leading authority on the biological effects of radiation who has worked closely with the UR's wartime Manhattan Project and its present Atomic Energy Project.

Sumner H. Slichter, professor of economics at Harvard University, chairman of the Research Advisory Committee, Committee for Economic Development.

Miss Edith Hamilton, 82-year-old classical scholar and interpreter of the ancient world in terms of modern history, of Washington, D. C.

Ettore Mazzoleni, principal of the Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto, Canada, a gifted conductor and exponent of more progressive methods and higher standards in music education.

Of this year's graduating class, 693 were men and 380 women. The largest group consisted of some 700 bachelor degree candidates in the Men's and Women's Colleges, the Eastman School of Music, and University School of Liberal and Applied Studies, divided as follows:

Men's College, 160 A.B. degrees, 178 B.S. degrees including 97 in mechanical, chemical or electrical engineering, 47 in business administration and the rest in chemistry, optics and physics.

Women's College, 125 A.B. degrees, and 36 B.S. degrees of which 30 were in nursing and nursing education.

Eastman School, 74 men and 49 women, all B.M. degrees.

Sixty-eight graduates of the School of Medicine and Dentistry, including 12 women, received M.D. degrees.

The Graduate School awarded advanced degrees to 163 men and 89 women, including Ph.D. degrees to 26 men and two women, and Master's degrees in arts, science, music and education to 137 men and 75 women.

The School of Nursing awarded diplomas to 55 graduates, of whom 11 also received B.S. degrees in the Women's College.

University's Scholarship Budget Exceeds $100,000 for 1949-50

The University has awarded a total of nearly 90 scholarships to high school and preparatory school graduates in all parts of the country who will be among the freshmen entering the Men's and Women's Colleges in September.

The University's budget for undergraduate scholarships alone for the 1949-50 academic year exceeds $100,000, not including extensive loan aid given to numerous other students.

Among the news scholarship recipients are three children of alumni or alumnae. They are:

Anne Woodams, daughter of W. Bert Woodams, '13 and Marie LeMay Woodams, '24, who received the $2,000 alumnae Rhodes Prize Scholarship. Anne is a graduate of Monroe High School, Rochester.

Richard S. Westburg, son of Claude T. Westburg, '25, and Evelyn Forster Westburg, '25, a graduate of Charlotte High, Rochester, who was given a College Scholarship.

Raymond J. Hasenauer, Jr., a graduate of Aquinas Institute, Rochester, son of Raymond J. Hasenauer, ESM '29, who was awarded the Michael L. Casey—T. Richard Long Alumni Scholarship, which provided a total maximum award of $1,500.

The scholarships awarded to incoming freshmen included 25 to students in Rochester and vicinity, and 63 to students in other parts of New York State, 15 other states, and one foreign country.

About half of the awards are for major stipends, varying from $1,200 to full college tuition, and the others range from $100 to $200 a year. Included in the major scholarships are the Rochester Prize, Martin F. Tierman, and Bausch & Lomb Science Scholarships, all with a maximum value of $1,500 each, and the Genesee, which pays $300 a year for four years.

This year for the first time the new George F. Baker Scholarships at the Men's College, sponsored by the George F. Baker Trust of New York City under a $50,000 gift to the University, were awarded to three recipients: James W. Brennan, of Waterbury, Conn., Donald R. Lesh, of Oak Park, Ill., and Edgar W. Pattison, of Indianapolis, Ind. The Baker Scholarships have no fixed stipend, and may vary from a few hundred dollars a year to total college expenses, depending upon the recipients' needs. They are given to secondary school graduates who show capabilities of becoming outstanding leaders in the community and nation, superior academic aptitude and achievement, industry, stability and physical vigor.

In the sixth annual nationwide competition for five Bausch & Lomb Science Scholarships at the University, 22 finalists were chosen from eleven states to come to Rochester in May for final tests and interviews. Of the 22, five received the B&L awards, and six others stood so high that they were given either Rochester Prize or Genesee Scholarships. Pattison, who received a Baker Scholarship, was one of the B&L finalists.

Dr. Ira Olsan Establishes Book Fund

Dr. Ira M. Olsan, '14, of Rochester, has given funds to the University Library for purchase of books in memory of his parents, Samuel Olsan and Rachel Leah Olsan, his sister, Jennie Olsan, and his brother, David Byron Olsan.

The fund established in memory of his parents will be used to purchase books on the sciences, and the funds in memory of his brother and sister to purchase books on the general subject of economics for the Libraries of the College of Arts and Sciences.

In expressing the University's appreciation of Dr. Olsan's generous gift, Raymond L. Thompson, '17, vice-president and treasurer said that individual memorial bookplates will be provided by the University to be placed in each book purchased from Dr. Olsan's gift, the amount of which was not disclosed.

Dr. Olsan received a bachelor of science degree from the University of Rochester and his M.D. degree in 1918 from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University. After interning at Mt. Sinai Hospital, New York City, for three years, he came to Rochester and has practiced medicine and surgery here for 28 years, with offices at 399 Monroe Ave.

He has been senior surgeon on the staff of the Park Avenue Hospital, Rochester, for many years, and during World War II was medical examiner for Local Draft Board 546. In recognition of his war services he was awarded a Selective Service Medal and certificate by President Truman and Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service.
Margaret Neary Bakker, '13, Elected Alumnae President

WORLD traveler, tireless worker for international understanding and cooperation, and leader in many civic enterprises, Margaret Neary Bakker, '13, is the new president of the Alumnae Association for the University’s Centennial year.

First alumna to be given the Fannie R. Bigelow Memorial Award, she was cited for the outstanding role she has played in civic and community affairs since her graduation.

Mrs. Bakker is a member of the board of the Rochester Association for the United Nations, chairman of its Women’s Action Committee, and serves on the Rochester committee for Displaced Persons. During the past year she has been president of the board of the Harley School and has been elected to the school’s executive committee.

Always an active alumna, she was the chairman of the first alumnae-undergraduate Susan B. Anthony Day and has served on numerous alumnae committees.

In World War I she served overseas with the American Expeditionary Force and the Red Cross. She was national president of the Women’s Overseas League and recently was described by the Pittsburgh Press as being one of the “spiritual mothers of the WACS and WAVES.”

From her extensive travels and residence in many countries in Europe and Asia, she has seen the common problems of all mankind and the need for world understanding, a cause to which she devotes much of her time and energy. She has lived in Peking, Australia, Shanghai, Hawaii, Vienna, Switzerland, London, Rotterdam, and Paris.

With her dynamic personality, breadth of interest and organizational talents, Mrs. Bakker has the qualities for an outstanding alumnae leader during the Centennial year.

Elizabeth Hazeltine Gibaud, '26, Eastman School, is the new alumnae vice-president; Helene Clark Robinson, '34, University Extension, is recording secretary and Mary Babcock Fyles, '45, School of Nursing, is treasurer.

The seven new members of the Board of Directors, elected to serve until June 1952, are: Gertrude Broadwell Briggs, '27, Eastman School; Dorothy Voss, '28, University Extension, who is principal of School 35; Beulah Fuller, '00, representing the first decade of the College for Women, who is social service secretary for the Eastman Dental Dispensary; Helen Hartung Robinson, '14, Arts College, second decade, former president of the Alumnae Association; Julia McMillen Goodwin, '26, Arts College, third decade; Dr. Ruth P. Oakley, '37, Arts College, fourth decade, also '41 School of Medicine; and Jean Conner Ferris, '47, Arts College, fifth decade, former president of the Students’ Association.

The following members of the board are retiring after three-year terms: Dorothy Sutton Kirkham, '32, Eastman School; Jane F. Cameron, '29, University Extension; Helen Thomas Kates, '06; Elsie G. Neum, '16; Mildred Smed Vande Walle, '22; Anne Schumacher Hammond, '39; and Pauline Parce Parks, '40, representatives of the Arts College.

The new and retiring officers and directors of the association were entertained at a picnic supper at the home of Helen Scott Wight, '28, retiring president, on Wednesday, June 29.

Alumni, Employer Give Presidencies to E. Willard Dennis

FOR E. Willard Dennis, '10, June brought double honors, the well-earned rewards of able service and devotion to his University and fellow alumni, and to his company.

On June 18, the Associated Alumni elected him as president at the annual Alumni Commencement Dinner. Three days later, evidently deciding that if he was good enough to be chosen leader of the Rochester alumni it need look no further, the Sibley, Lindsay & Curr Company, Rochester’s largest department store, named him president.

Howard J. Henderson, '17, vice-president of the Lawyers’ Cooperative Publishing Company, Rochester, was elected alumni vice-president.

The same qualities of keen interest, hard work, leadership capacity and fine personality won for Willard Dennis the dual recognition of his proved ability.

As vice-president of the Associated Alumni during the past year under the presidency of Macdonald G. Newcomb, '11, of New York City, Dennis has headed much of the work of running alumni activities during one of the association's busiest and most successful years. The past year has brought a number of new alumni enterprises, with gratifying strengthening of the organization and much wider participation. It culminated with the splendid success of the Alumni Fund Drive.

On top of all that, Dennis was a member of the special gifts committee and decade chairman for the drive, and is a member of the Century Club. He has served on the Alumni Board of Managers for the last three years.

He began working for Sibley's when a 16-year-old student at East High School back in 1905, as bundle-boy, wrapper, and delivery helper. While he was in college, he financed his education by working part time in the men's furnishings department. After his graduation in 1910, he joined the store full time, learning about merchandising through apprenticeship training in various departments. At the same time he studied accounting evenings at the Rochester Business Institute and the UR Extension Division.

He advanced steadily to positions of increasing responsibility, moving up to store superintendent in 1921, general superintendent in 1935, vice-president in 1943 and a director in 1945.

As president of the firm, he succeeds another Rochester alumnus, Charles T. Crouch, '18, who died unexpectedly in New York City June 13 on a business trip.

Two of his three daughters are alumnae of the Women's College, Betty Dennis Burt, '39, of Rochester, and Robin Dennis, '44, of New York City. The third daughter is Mrs. Stephen Webster of Brockport, N. Y.

He is a director of the Erie Dry Goods Company, controlled by Sibley's, a member of Theta Chi Fraternity, the University Club, the Chamber of Commerce, the National Federation of Sales Executives and the Sales Executive Club of Rochester, and a trustee of Mt. Hor Presbyterian Church.

In a Rochester Democrat and Chronicle editorial on his appointment, it was stated:

"College graduates who step from use-to-be 'ivory halls' into useful pursuits have been derided in the past. But men and women who, while in college, keep in touch with the practical world while they are learning something about the world outside have the best prospects.

"When a man who has gone through this process is recognized as capable of handling the top position, it is an inspiration for others coming along; and a tremendously good thing for the morale and progress of the institution itself.

"We congratulate Dennis; we congratulate the Sibley board."

The Review does, too, and also congratulates the alumni on their choice of Willard Dennis as president.

---

Dr. Albert Kaiser, Joseph B. Platt Win Alumni Medals

U N A N I M O U S and enthusiastic approval met the 1949 selections for the annual Alumni Medal awards to an alumnus and to a faculty member—Dr. Albert D. Kaiser, '09, and Joseph B. Platt, '37—at the Alumni Commencement Dinner.

Dr. Kaiser, a trustee of the University, health officer of the City of Rochester, professor of child hygiene and associate pediatrician at the School of Medicine and Dentistry, and at various times president of the medical and health organizations in Rochester and Monroe County, was chosen as the outstanding alumnus of the year for his conspicuous service to the community and to the University.

Joe Platt, thirty-four-year-old associate professor of physics, who holds a Ph. D. from Cornell University but seems much too youthful to be called "doctor" or "professor," was named as the faculty recipient, the youngest faculty member yet chosen for the award. He was cited by Dean Lester O. Wilder for his accomplishments as a teacher and his significant contribution to the life of the students beyond his regular duties as faculty member.

It was disclosed that Platt has been appointed to an important post with the Research Division of the Atomic Energy Commission, and has been given a two-year leave of absence from the University beginning September 1.

Cornelius R. Wright, '09, presenting Dr. Kaiser for the award, said:

"First, he is a member of the great Class of 1909, which has sired so many loyal alumni. That ought to be glory enough for any man.

"Upon graduation he did not get a Phi Beta Kappa key. As a matter of fact, due to the incredible stupidity of the faculty, no member of the class got a key. But we fixed that. We all got one. We made our own ... But we had a traitor in our midst—no less a person than the recipient of tonight's award. To the consternation of all of us he turned up in 1946 as president—no less—of the local chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. He must have sneaked in the back door as an alumnus when the rest of us weren't looking . . .

"Al Kaiser has been president of most every organization in the community devoted to its health and well-being. He has held that office in the Rochester Academy of Medicine, the Medical Society of the County of Monroe, the Tuberculosis and Health Association of Rochester and Monroe County, the Rochester Museum—from which he received the Civic Medal Award in 1945—the Rochester Pediatric Society, and even the Visiting Nurses Association.

“He was a captain in the Army Medical Corps in World War I. He has shot elephants with George Eastman in Africa, he is professor of child hygiene at the Rochester Medical Center, he is a trustee of the University of Rochester, and since 1945 has done an outstanding job as city health officer in Rochester.

"Al, that ought to qualify you in any league. It does in ours, and I take great pleasure in presenting you for the annual Alumni Award for conspicuous and outstanding service to the community and to the University.”

In presenting Platt, Dean Wilder pointed out that he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in his junior year and later to Sigma Xi, was on the swimming team and the Campus staff, was editor-in-chief of the Interpres, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, and of the Board of Control. After graduating in 1937, he went to Cornell and obtained his Ph. D. in physics in 1941, joined the Rochester faculty the next year, and rose to the rank of associate professor in 1948.

"From the summer of 1943 to the late autumn of 1945, Joe was absent on leave for war work,” Dean Wilder continued. “His occupations during this time were important to the success of our air force in Europe. He went to England to superintend the use of the radar beacon and other devices which guided American bombing planes to their targets. Toward the close of the war he went out to the Philippines to advise on the use of radar for tactical bombing . . .

“Now Joe is about to leave us again for a two-year appointment, during which he will be responsible for the program of research in physics conducted by the Research Division of the Atomic Energy Commission. The qualities which made him so valuable in his work with the Air Forces have led to his selection for this important post. Of course we are sorry to lose Joe, even for two years, but we do recognize the extreme importance of having at this time a man of his ability and character as a high executive officer in the work of the Atomic Commission.

“When the students and faculty on this campus think of Joe Platt, however, it will not be simply as one of whose accomplishments we are proud; it will be as a genial, sympathetic, and helpful friend. This award of the Associated Alumni goes to a teacher who has made a significant contribution to the life of the students, over and above his regular duties as a member of the faculty. Joe’s greatest value as a teacher of undergraduates comes from the fact that he had the desire and ability to help the individual. He has kept an active interest in undergraduate affairs and is never too busy to give his counsel and advise to a student who needs a friend.”

SPORTS SHORTS

The UR baseball team, after a flying start in which it defeated Union, Cornell and Rensselaer in its first three games, ended up the season with five wins and six losses, but had 65 runs to 62 for the opponents.

The track team under Coach “Speed” Speegle won three of its five meets, defeating Ithaca College, Hamilton and Buffalo State Teachers, and losing to Union and RPI.

The tennis team won seven of its eight matches, losing only to Syracuse in a return match after having defeated the Orange in the opening game. Its victims were Syracuse, Union, Clarkson (twice), Hamilton (twice), and Cortland State Teachers.

Almost equally successful was the Varsity golf team, which won eight matches and lost two, both defeats being administered by Syracuse’s linksmen. The victories were over Sampson, Clarkson, and Hamilton (twice each), Colgate, and St. Lawrence.

Dan Dieter, ’49, southpaw pitcher for the Varsity who was graduated in June, has signed a contract with the Detroit Tigers to work out with the Buffalo Bisons and later report to Butler, Pa., of Class C, Middle Atlantic League.
President Valentine Rests, Plans Return to UR Duties in Fall

To curtail Marshall Plan aid would lead to economic chaos in Western Europe and make that area easy prey for Communism, President Alan Valentine is convinced.

During his three-day stay in Rochester for the 1949 Commencement, for which he interrupted his crowded schedule as chief of the Economic Cooperation Administration mission to the Netherlands to fly home from the Hague, President Valentine expressed un stinting praise for the accomplishments of ECA Administrator Paul Hoffman and said that the Marshall Plan, despite handicaps and lack of precedent for its tremendously complicated operations, has been “remarkably successful to date.”

The Netherlands and other Western European nations have made definite economic progress under the plan, but could easily slip back to the conditions that prevailed just after World War II if that aid is cut, he declared. He termed the program the greatest humanitarian enterprise mankind ever has undertaken.

Highest praise for the job President Valentine has done in his complex task in the Netherlands has been voiced by Herman Baruch, U. S. Ambassador to that country.

President Valentine relinquished his ECA post on June 30. His successor is Clarence E. Hunter of New York City. With Mrs. Valentine and his younger daughter, Sally, who have been with him in Europe all year, he planned to return to the United States on July 3 and spend a much-needed vacation with them and his son, Gary, and older daughter, Laurie, at their summer home in Maine. He will return late in the summer to his University duties, from which he was given a year’s leave of absence a year ago to serve with the ECA. Thinner and somewhat grayer, he shows the strain of the long hours and tireless effort he has put in as the Netherlands mission chief.

Ambassador Baruch, in thanking President Valentine for outstanding performance in his ECA work, said:

“You have brought to your task the highest degree of understanding of the economic problems which have arisen and which, I believe, have been as adequately and completely solved (in the Netherlands) by you and your staff as anywhere in the Western European world.”

Declaring that President Valentine’s departure from the Netherlands is “very distinct loss to the entire staff of the American Embassy in the Hague both professionally and personally,” the Ambassador added:

“Your uniform courtesy, cooperation and kindly approach have made it inevitable that there never, for one moment, has been the slightest degree of friction between the members of your staff and the Embassy itself . . . I know I speak for every member of my staff when I say how sorry we are to see you go and to tell you that you carry with you our best wishes for your continued success in the high office you hold at the University of Rochester.”

Jam-Packed Schedule a Routine, President Finds in ECA Post

Some idea of the pace President Valentine has led as ECA chief in the Netherlands is given by his travel schedule in the line of duty from June 14 to July 3.

On Tuesday, June 14, he flew from the Hague to Copenhagen, returning to Holland the next day, Wednesday, then to Glasgow, Scotland, Thursday, with a trans-Atlantic flight to New York, where he took the train to Rochester—only the second time in a year, incidentally, that he has been on a train—arriving here early Saturday morning.

Saturday he attended the UR Trustees’ meeting until 2 o’clock, then went to his office at 15 Prince Street for a press interview and a radio broadcast which was taken on wire recording and broadcast that evening over Station WHAM. When that was over, he went to the River Campus for the Alumni Commencement Dinner.

Sunday he attended the baccalaureate service, and later the Alumnae Commencement Dinner, where he gave an extemporaneous and forceful talk on the work of the ECA. Monday morning he presided over the Commencement ceremony in the Eastman Theatre, attended the luncheon for honorary degree recipients in Memorial Art Gallery, kept an appointment with his dentist at 3 o’clock, caught the plane for New York City at 5 o’clock, and flew the Atlantic Tuesday for his return to the Hague, where he was due to arrive Wednesday. Two days later he was scheduled for a flight to Brussels for an ECA meeting, followed the next day by an air trip to Berlin for a two-day conference, then back to the Hague on June 29, to wind up his ECA affairs in time to take a plane for the U.S. on July 3 with Mrs. Valentine and his daughter.
Dr. George Packer Berry Appointed Harvard Medical School Dean

FURTHER striking proof that the University of Rochester trains outstanding administrators and teachers as well as students is the appointment of Dr. George Packer Berry, for the past 17 years a member of the faculty of the School of Medicine and Dentistry, as Dean of Harvard Medical School. The appointment was effective July 1.

The University's pride in the recognition thus given to one of its members and to the UR Medical School is tempered with regret at losing so valuable a man as Dr. Berry, who has been closely linked with the School's impressive development and its worldwide reputation for high standards of teaching and research.

Dr. George H. Whipple, Dean of the School of Medicine and Dentistry since its founding in 1921, pointing out that an important part of the School's responsibility is the training of career men in medical and dental education, said of Dr. Berry's appointment:

"I regret that we must lose a very valuable man—a close friend who has worked effectively with this faculty for 17 years—an excellent teacher—all in all a great loss to his friends, colleagues and this school."

"However, we are proud that Dr. Berry has been chosen for the very responsible position of Dean of Harvard Medical School. We wish him all success in this new venture, and take pride that some of his training can be related to this School."

The decision to leave the UR Medical School to accept Harvard's invitation, Dr. Berry confided, was the hardest he ever had to make.

"I prize highly my long and rewarding association with the University of Rochester Medical Center, for which I have the utmost regard and affection and confidence in its brilliant future," he said. "At the same time, the position of Dean of Harvard Medical School offers so great an opportunity, unmatched anywhere in the country, that I could not refuse the challenge."

"If I am able to contribute to the progress of Harvard Medical School, it will be because of my association with Dean Whipple, and his insistence on quality of students, training and research, and his unwavering devotion to the highest ideals of medical education."

Harvard is the latest of many of the country's leading institutions which have selected leaders from members of the University of Rochester's staff who joined the faculty early in their careers and were drafted for key educational positions elsewhere as a result of the reputations they built up at Rochester.

Dr. Berry's selection to the deanship of 167-year-old Harvard Medical School and professor of bacteriology caps a notable career as a medical educator and researcher, most of which has been spent at the Rochester Medical Center. A graduate of Princeton University in 1921 and of Johns Hopkins University Medical School in 1925, Dr. Berry, now fifty, joined the Rochester faculty in 1932 as professor of bacteriology and head of the department, and as associate professor of medicine.

He was appointed assistant dean in 1941 and associate dean of the Medical School in 1947, and has had a major role in the exacting task of selecting the comparatively few medical students who can be accepted each year from the 1,500 or more who apply each year.

As a wise and understanding teacher and friend of medical students, as an eminent researcher in the fields of immunology and virology, and as an administrator, Dr. Berry became a national figure in medical education. He is a former president of the American Association of Immunologists, and is a director of the Josiah Macy Jr. Foundation, a member of the Division of Medical Sciences, National Research Council, and of the Council's executive committee. He was elected vice-president of the Association of American Medical Colleges in 1947, and a member of its Executive Council in 1948. He is on the editorial staffs of professional journals, is a Diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine, a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Public Health Association, and the American Medical Association.

Harvard Medical School is constantly developing others to fill the vacancies created when members of its staff are called elsewhere, and to supply trained men for other medical schools.

Dr. Jorgen Kruse Boggild, well-known Danish theoretical physicist, will come to the UR this fall as visiting professor of physics.

A member of the University of Copenhagen faculty, he is closely associated with Dr. Niels Bohr, famed Danish scientist whose fundamental discoveries in the development of fissionable material were a key factor in the production of the atomic bomb.
Robert Neel, '06, looks proudly at his three children, son-in-law and daughter-in-law, who were graduated from the UR this June. Two other daughters and a son are still in college. In front are John Neel and Walter Yaude; (rear): Robert Neel, his wife, Shirley Gott Neel, and Caroline Neel Yaude, Walter's wife.

Five Members of Single Family Graduated with Class 'of 1949

The Alumni and Alumnae Associations acquired a combined total of five new members from one family this June, setting what is believed to be a national record for the number of graduates in one class from a single family.

They are John and Robert Neel, their sister Caroline Neel Yaude, Robert's wife, Shirley Gott Neel, and Caroline's husband, Walter L. Yaude, all of whom received bachelor's degrees at the University's 99th annual commencement.

The Neels' father, Robert Neel, also is a UR graduate in the class of 1906. He has three other children at the University, Virginia, a senior, Diana, and William both sophomores. Robert, Jr., and John, were in military service during World War II, which gave their younger brothers and sisters a chance to catch up with them in college.

News photos and accounts of the Neels' precedent-setting feat were carried in newspapers all over the country.

--R--

“Spike” Garnish Given Warm Send-off

For genuine warmth of feeling and sincere tribute, it would be hard to beat the testimonial luncheon for “Spike” Garnish given by alumni, members of the Quarterback Club, and faculty members at the Rochester Chamber of Commerce on June 2. Some 300 jammed the dining hall to express their liking and respect for “Spike” and to wish him well in his new job with the Kodak Park industrial recreation staff.

Praise of “Spike” as a trainer, coach and counselor of UR athletes for 19 years, and as a man, lightened with some amiable horseplay, and presentation of several gifts, was expressed by his long-time associate, Lou Alexander; “Doc” Fauver, who was responsible for Garnish's coming to the University; Johnny Sullivan, '23, assistant football coach who presided; Jim (Irish) Lanigan, custodian of athletic equipment; Bill Bruckel, '42, one of the UR's finest halfbacks in his college days; Dick Countryman, '37, and others.

Pete Bleyler, '29, presented a scroll, drafted by Bill Jensen, '28, to Garnish on behalf of the alumni. It read:

"Often it happens that a man's true worth remains too long unsung. After nearly a score of years, "Spike" Garnish is leaving the University of Rochester for other work—new fields in which his talents will continue to be felt.

"In him honest humor, sincerity, kindness and understanding are present for all to admire. Thousands of Rochester young men through a generation have known him and found the experience good.

"For what he has done for Rochester men that books and ivy alone could not do, and for what he is, we salute him.

Alumni of Rochester"

University of Rochester Engagement Calendar for 1950

54 pictures... a page for every week
$1.00
15¢ for mailing
Order yours now from:
ASSOCIATED ALUMNI
Todd Union
or
ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION
204 Cutler Union
SUMMARY
Alumni-Alumnae
Annual Giving Fund

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>College for Men</td>
<td>$24,825.25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>College for Women</td>
<td>$7,627.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(includes School of Nursing)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>School of Medicine</td>
<td>$2,390.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eastman School of Music</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alumni</td>
<td>667.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alumnae</td>
<td>477.75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Special Gifts</td>
<td>3,300.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>University School</td>
<td>362.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>$40,150.00</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Alumnae Fund . . .

(Continued from Page 5)

wood plates which the Alumnae Association will sponsor in connection with the University's Centennial. Winning agents were:

Ethel Kates, '06, with 170 per cent of quota; Dorothy Dennis, '08, with 116 per cent of potential contributors, the record high; Beatrice Tripp, '10, with 92 per cent of contributors and 200 per cent of quota, the highest class in quota; Dorothy DuMont Schumann, '24, with 68 per cent of contributors and 144 per cent of quota; Margaret Johnston Birrell, '36, with 50 per cent of contributors and 122 per cent of quota, and Jean Dinse, '44, with 60 per cent of contributors and 107 per cent of quota.

Justine Lynes, '37, who headed the decade chairmen, received special recognition, together with her workers: Ollie Braggins Watkeys, '08, first decade; Florence Du Four McNair, '18, second decade; Mary Leader Lewis, '28, third decade; Helen Shaddock, '37, fourth decade, and Dorothy Murphy Meade, '46, fifth decade. Caro Fitz-Simons Spencer, '27, was chairman of the Special Gifts Committee.

Alumni Fund . . .
(Continued from Page 5)

contributing 118 per cent of its quota for a total of $1,176.50.

A really remarkable achievement was the fact that 34 classes hit 100 per cent of quota or better. Also significant is the number of classes which had 100 per cent of their members contributing to the Fund—the Classes of 1883, 1889, and 1903. Other high ranking classes are 1909 with 97 per cent representation, 1912 with 96.6 per cent, 1897 with 93 per cent, and 1913 with 91.3 per cent.

The class with the highest number of contributors is 1937 with a total of 97 donors.

Of the classes which obtained 100 per cent of quota or more, that of 1903, with Joseph B. Wilson as fund manager, stood highest with 254 per cent. The other 100 per cent or better classes and their fund managers are as follows:

1885, Ezra Sparlin; 1889, John Howe; 1891, Smith Sheldon; 1892, John Wright; 1895, Joseph Humphrey; 1896, Thurlow Buxton; 1897, Albert Stearns; 1899, Herbert Weet; 1900, Clinton Lyddon; 1906, Embry McDowell; 1909, Cornelius Wright; 1910, E. Willard Dennis; 1911, Macdonald Newcomb; 1913, James Spinning; 1914, Richard Wellington; 1916, Sidney Adsit; 1917, Howard Hennington; 1918, Leonard Henderson; 1920, Shelton Sullivan; 1921, Basil Weston; 1923, Hoyt Armstrong; 1924, Warren Allen; 1925, Carl Lauterbach; 1927, John Thorne; 1929, Hugo Teute; 1931, Peter Braal; 1932, John Martin; 1934, Frederick Miller; 1936, George Dick; 1937, Robert Weingartner; 1939, Fred Nuessle; 1947, Jack Dunlap; 1948, Don Fisher, and 1949, Saul Cohen.

In thanking all those who had worked so faithfully to make the drive a success, Chairman Gray said that the key to the triumphant outcome was the individual efforts of the class teams under the lively leadership of the class fund managers. He gave special recognition to the decade chairmen, E. Willard Dennis, '10; Hamilton J. Foulds, '13; Franklin Enos, '20; Allan Kappelman, '33, and Frank Phillips, '42.

Daughter of Alumni Wins Rhees Prize Scholarship

Anne Marie Woodams, daughter of Marie LeMay Woodams, '24, former alumnae president and W. Bert Woodams, '19, is the winner of the coveted Rhees Prize Scholarship, top award given by the Alumnae Association.

A graduate of Monroe High School and a leader in the classroom, in extra-curricular activities and in the community, Anne ranked in the top five of her class of nearly 300 students. She was editor of Monroe Life, school newspaper, a member of the Student Council, and cheer leader, as well as a member of the National Honor Society.

The Rhees Prize Scholarship, established by the Alumnae Association to recognize an outstanding candidate for the College for Women, carries an annual stipend of $500 for four years. The funds for this scholarship are raised by the alumnae through the annual alumnae fund.

Other alumnae scholarship recipients will be announced in the next issue of the Review, by Elsie Neum, '16, chairman of the committee on awards.
Dr. Alfred H. Jones, professor and chairman of the Philosophy Department since 1926, retired in June to join what Dr. Arthur L. May called "the choice company" of Professors Slater, Chambers, Fairbanks, Fauer, Gale, MacLean and Murlin, who have attained emeritus rank in recent years.

A graduate of Cornell, Professor Jones taught there and at Brown University for about twelve years before joining the Rochester faculty. In a tribute to him at the final faculty meeting of the 1948-49 academic year, Dr. May said:

"Of necessity a philosopher takes the whole range of thought for his province. Yet in the classroom, in individual conferences, and at student gatherings in the hospitable atmosphere of his home, Professor Jones has devoted himself to the ideas of the classical philosophers, to a never-ending search for rational standards of human behavior, and to the field of systematic thinking. He has been tireless in encouraging undergraduates to separate the kernel from the husk."

As successor to Professor Jones, the University has appointed Dr. Lewis White Beck, professor of philosophy at Lehigh University, to head the department at Rochester, effective next September 1.

Well-known as an educator and author of numerous articles in professional philosophical journals, Dr. Beck is a graduate of Emory University in 1934, and received his master's degree in 1935 and his Ph.D. in 1937 at Duke University. After studying at the University of Berlin in 1937-38, he was instructor at Emory University from 1938-41, assistant professor and associate professor at the University of Delaware from 1941-48, and joined the Lehigh faculty as professor in 1948.

Dr. Dexter Perkins, chairman of the History Department, flew to Europe July 7 to take part in the Salzburg Seminar in American Studies July 17-August 27 sponsored by the Harvard Student Council in cooperation with the International Student Service, Geneva, Switzerland, and the World Student Service Fund.

He will give lectures and a seminar on twentieth-century American foreign policy. His wife, Wilma Lord Perkins, '18, accompanied him to Europe. They plan to return to Rochester early in September.

Dr. Robert E. Marshak, 32-year-old member of the Physics Department faculty, has been promoted to full professor, one of the youngest faculty members yet to attain that rank. Internationally known for his work in theoretical physics, he recently received wide scientific acclaim for his revolutionary "two-meson" theory, of great significance to science in its efforts to solve the major mystery of atomic nuclei. Experiments with the new Rochester cyclotron and elsewhere have substantiated his theory. In 1947-48, Dr. Marshak was chairman of the Federation of American Scientists. First appointed to the UR faculty in 1939, he was on leave during the war to serve at the Radiation Laboratory at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and at the Los Alamos Atomic Bomb Laboratory. He returned to Rochester in 1946.

Samuel Belov, teacher of viola and violin at the Eastman School of Music since its inception in 1920, has retired after 28 years of service to the University. A native of Russia, where he was graduated from the Royal Conservatory at Ekaterinoslav in 1897, he came to this country and taught at the Philadelphia Conservatory from 1908-1919, becoming a naturalized citizen in 1912. For a number of years he also was director of the David Hochstein Memorial Music School in Rochester.

Dr. Wallace O. Fenn, professor and chairman of the physiology department of the School of Medicine and Dentistry, and widely known authority in his field, has been appointed an assistant dean of the School. A member of the Medical School faculty for twenty-five years, he was graduated from Harvard University in 1924, and received his Ph.D. there in 1919.

During World War II he was in charge of vital war research relating to the physiology of respiration which was of great value to the U.S. Air Forces, and received a citation for his work from the Office of Scientific Research and Development. Of particular value were his studies of the physiology of pressure breathing, which made possible the development of devices and procedures for increasing the altitude safely attainable by military flyers.

Dr. Janet H. Clark, Dean of the College for Women and professor of biophysics, was elected president of Rochester Chapter of Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific society, the first woman to hold that position. In addition to her duties as dean, she teaches courses in physics and astronomy, and for the last two years has been studying the effect of radiation and other environmental conditions on spontaneous breast tumors in mice.

Andre de Ribaupierre, noted Swiss violinist, who came to the Eastman School last fall as visiting professor of violin, has been appointed a regular member of the faculty, resigning his position as head of the violin at the Geneva Conservatory of Music, Geneva, Switzerland.

The Review extends its sympathy to Prof. Floyd C. Fairbanks, emeritus professor of astronomy, on the death of his wife, Mrs. Stella Fairbanks, on June 4, 1949, in Indianapolis, Wash., where they have resided with a daughter, Mrs. Russell Rinker, since Professor Fairbanks' retirement four years ago.

Dr. Henry C. Mills, Dean of University School and professor of education, has been named on an advisory board of the New York State Education Commission representing 24 colleges and universities for a cooperative four-year study to improve the selection of candidates for professional education in preparation for secondary school teaching.

Your Classmates
College for Men
fortieth reunion celebration this June, but hopes to attend his fiftieth, if not a few before then. He sent his greetings and best wishes to his classmates.

1912
The Rev. Ernest E. Davis, superintendent of Rochester District of Genesee Conference of the Methodist Church, received the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity at the Alfred University Commencement exercises on June 13. The degree was conferred by Dr. M. Ellis Drake, president of Alfred. The preceding evening Dr. Davis had delivered the Baccalaureate sermon at Alfred, on the theme “Great Securities.”

1917
James B. Sykes, now a retired rear admiral, resides at Willis, Tex., and writes that he looks forward to seeing friends in Rochester on a trip this way in the future.

1921
Michael V. Brindisi is now primary patent examiner in charge of Division 53 having jurisdiction over label pasting and paper hanging, book making, manifolding, printed matter, stationery; and similar matter for U. S. Patent Office, Washington, D. C.

1925
Maurice B. Pendleton was re-elected mayor of Mt. Prospect, III., for a four-year term at last April's elections.

1929
Elton J. Burgett and Miss Eileen Schappe of Galveston, Tex., were married April 20 in Galveston. Cmdr. Carl Paul Jr., '29, was best man. Mrs. Burgett is a graduate of the University of Texas. The couple will reside at 2050 Monroe Avenue, Rochester.

1932
Dr. and Mrs. Charles W. Deane 3rd of Summit, N. J., announced the birth of their fourth child, Roger Kingsley, on June 17.

1933
The engagement of Lincoln V. Barrows and Mary Jane Walsh was announced in April in Davenport, Iowa, Miss Walsh is a graduate of the Vill De Chantal, Rock Island, and attended Trinity College, Washington, D.C., who received his master’s degree at the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce of the University of Pennsylvania, is now vice-president and general sales manager of the Victor-Animatograph Corporation.

1934
George Leader re-entered the Air Force and is now in Germany.

1935
David James is now assistant professor of French at Brown University, Providence, R. I.

Robert F. Weller writes from the Pearl Harbor Naval Shipyard that he hopes to visit Rochester this summer.

1938

1940
Willard H. Wright has a new position as field coordinator at the State Teachers College, Geneseo, N. Y.

1941
Dr. Chester A. Haug married Mary E. Penn on May 14 in Massena, N. Y. Dr. Haug is on the medical staff of Strong Memorial Hospital and the bride is a graduate of the University of Rochester School of Nursing. They will make their home at 1825 South Avenue, Rochester.

1942
Ivar Lundgaard’s engagement to Elizabeth Bodnar of South River, N. J. was announced in March. Miss Bodnar studied at Rutgers and Georgetown University, and has been working in the State Department, Near East Division. She was in Paris for the United Nations General Assembly. Ivar is employed by DuPont at its photo products plant.

1943
Arthur John Lohwater and Mary Eileen White were wed May 28 at James Memorial Chapel, Union Theological Seminary, N.Y.C. The bride is a graduate of Barnard College and has been an assistant in mathematics there for the past two years. She and Jack have been doing graduate work at Columbia where he has held an Atomic Energy Commission fellowship for the past year. The couple is spending the summer in Rochester before leaving for Ann Arbor where Jack will be an instructor in mathematics at the University of Michigan.

1944
John A. King, Lt. (j.g.) MC, USN married Miss Martha Remington of Oliver Street, Rochester on June 18. Martha is the daughter of John W. Remington, '17, and was married on his wedding anniversary at St. Paul's Episcopal Church. She was graduated from Walnut Hill School and attended Bennett Junior College. John received his M.D. from the U.S. Naval Hospital in Brentwood, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Moir announce the birth of a daughter, Leslie Elizabeth, on April 18. They are living at 744 Prospect Ave., Winnetka, Ill.

Robert G. Smith received his M.D. from the University of Buffalo on June 1 and will serve his internship at Meyer Memorial Hospital, Buffalo, N. Y.

1945
Robert Auer has served in the U.S. Army since 1946 and is at present in Germany, where he will remain until 1950.

The engagement of John G. Phillips and Alice B. Holmes was announced in April. Miss Holmes is an alumna of the Connecticut College for Women and the University of Rochester.

Donald W. Spratt and Ann Garside were wed recently at Brick Presbyterian Church. The bride is a graduate of Alfred University and is on the nursing staff of Rochester General Hospital. Don was graduated from the Medical School of the University of Buffalo and is a resident in surgery at the Rochester General.

1946
Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Inda announce the birth of a son, Darrell Franklin. Floyd and Marie are now residing at 3781-A So. Alabama Ave., Milwaukee, Wis. Marie is the former Marie Monfredo, UR, '48.
1947

Samuel Misereando, Eas. USN, is now stationed on the USS Purdy (DD-734) E.P.O. New York City.

Jack Dunlap and Mrs. Dunlap announce the birth of their second son, Gregory, born June 14.

Andrew Neilly married Miss Jane E. Dayton of Rochester in June. The bride attended William Smith College. The couple will be at home in Chicago after October 1.

Charles W. Timber and Beulah Johnson were wed in April in Lynbrook, L. I., and will make their home in Westfield, N. J. Mrs. Timber is a graduate of the Methodist Hospital School of Nursing, Brooklyn. Charles is with Hyatt Bearing Corp., of General Motors, Harrison, N. J.

Joseph Barager of Philadelphia, formerly of Rochester and Fairport, has been awarded a Doherty Fellowship by Princeton University and a Penfield Traveling Scholarship by the University of Pennsylvania for travel and research in South America. Joseph received his M.A. from the UR in 1947 and recently received his Ph.D. in history from the University of Pennsylvania. He and Mrs. Barager, the former Jane Welch, an alumna of the UR, left in July for a year's travel and research in Argentina and Chile and stopovers in other South American countries.

William Hughes married Miss Louise M. Arnold of Lebanon, Pa. in June. Mrs. Hughes is a graduate of the Georgetown University School of Nursing in Washington, D. C. and William was graduated from the School of Medicine at Georgetown in June. He expects to intern at Buffalo General Hospital.

Dr. Arthur Dube writes that he was sorry not to attend the alumni celebrations, but was taking Medical Board examinations in Indiana at the time. He sent the following news items concerning Rochester Navy V-12 alumni: Michael Esposito received his M.D. from Boston University in June and is engaged to a nurse in Boston; James D. McMahon received his M.D. from Georgetown University; Jerry Schalman received his M.D. from Long Island College of Medicine and was married in June. They are interning at St. Albans Naval Hospital, Kings County Hospital, and Brooklyn Jewish Hospital, respectively.

1948

Glenn Bassett married Lyn Kershner, '48, on July 3 at the Friends Meeting House, Montclair, N. J. The couple will reside at 38 Schermerhorn St., Brooklyn.

Paul Benham and Mary Atkinson of Sonora Parkway, Rochester, were married in May at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Rochester. The bride attended Wells College. The couple is at home in Cambridge, Mass. Bill Gayne left in July for two years in London with Vick Chemical Company. His new address will be c/o Vick International Ltd., 209-215 Blackfriars Road, London S.E. 1, England.

John Guyon's engagement to Miss Norma Schaller, a UR alumna, was announced recently. John is completing his graduate studies at the UR this summer.

Charles Bruce Gray married Miss Shirley Morrison in May. The bride is an alumna of the UR. They are living at 1339 Mt. Hope Ave., Rochester.

Robert M. Platt, who received his master's degree in geology from the UR in June has left with Mrs. Platt and baby daughter Wendy to reside in Farmingdale, N. Y.

Engagement of Robert O. Richards and Jane K. Kestler was announced in June.

Ross Scott married Miss Marion E. Dalton in May at Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Rochester. The bride was graduated from Connecticut College for Women.

Raymond T. Shafter Jr. is in the U.S. Army stationed at Camp Lee, Va. in Co. K, 1st QM SCH BN.

Robert Bruce Thompson is engaged to Barbara Ann White of Pittsford, N.Y., a medical photographer at Wayne University in Detroit.

Nathan "Bill" Glaser married Miss Anne Lowenstein in June. The bride is a graduate of the Genesee Hospital School of Nursing.

YOUR CLASSMATES
Alumnae

1905

Jane Crowe Maxfield has sent us a newsy letter, telling about her recent activities. In November she moved from Washington, Pa., where for the last fifteen years she has been head of Washington Seminary, a junior college for girls. Her new home is in Madison, Wis., where her daughter Susan is an assistant professor at the University of Wisconsin, in the department of child development. They are living in Eagle Heights, a faculty community, where the houses are owned and serviced by the University. Her son David is the head librarian at the Undergraduate Division of the University of Wisconsin. Among her many interests are her membership on the Board of Directors of the Madison YWCA, the Free Lance Writers' group of the AAUW and several poetry societies. She still publishes poetry from time to time.

1906

Six members of the class attended the Reunion Luncheon at Cutler Union on June 18.

1907

Four of the class members met at the Reunion Luncheon.

Amy Hardwick Howard's daughter is graduating from college in June.

1908

The class won the Cutler Cup for the second time at the Reunion Luncheon. Eleven out of a potential 19 members were present, a higher percentage than that of any other class at the reunion.

Ruth Miller had a letter from Ruth Tappen Simmons who said that although unable to attend the reunion she would be in Rochester during August.

Alma Austin writes that she expects to retire next January and spend part of the winter in Florida. Most of her leisure time will be devoted to traveling.

Edith Briggs Andresen is a trustee of Keuka College and acting commissioner of Girl Scouts in Penn Yan.

Alicia Murray Graham is leaving in a few months for Washington, D. C., where Dr. Graham will spend the winter studying and writing. He hopes to complete his book on Chinese legends. After 37 years in China, Alicia is homesick for that country although all her family is in the United States.

Florence and Marion Mosher have left for Guatemala, flying there from New Orleans. They are in the party conducted by Dr. Delos Canfield, former UR professor of Spanish.

Other travelers are Ollie Braggins Watkins and Dr. Watkeys who are touring Nova Scotia this summer.

Grace Hall Pratt who still lives and teaches in Walworth, N. Y., will retire next year.

1911

Clarice Taylor Williams writes that she and her husband Bob are enjoying life on a small farm at Branford, Conn. They visit their daughter Virginia (Mrs. Lynn Lucas) winters in Miami. Son Bob and his wife live in Branford.

Jessica Requa Cole has moved to Seattle, Wash., to make her home with her son.

Mabel Herrman has retired from teaching and is living in Los Angeles. She has written several text books.

1912

Edith Barker Swigart is taking into her home a displaced girl from Austria who hopes to attend Eastman School.

Helen Marsh Rowe was on the staff of a summer workshop at the University of Connecticut in the latter part of June.

Lurana Round Wilson has been elected president of the Susan B. Anthony Club, a newly-formed Rochester Republican women's club. Lurana was instrumental in the founding of the club.

Added to the list of vacation travelers are Dora Neun who is spending her vacation in Quebec and Marian Laley who is visiting in Maine.

Marguerite and Carolyn Castle, '13, making their annual visit to their island in the St. Lawrence.

1914

The class met for its annual June meeting at the home of Grace Harper Johns. Twenty members were present and letters from some of the absent members were read. Ellen Foote Rugg sent a most interesting letter from India. Her many friends will be glad to know that her health is much better.

Lillian Blakeslee French has twin grandchildren.

1916

Marian Edwards Bacon was in Rochester over Commencement Weekend to attend the graduation of her daughter Marian, who was president of the Student's Association and won the degree Bachelor of Arts with Distinction.

1917

Sadie Rose Weilerstein who already has five books to her credit has a sixth scheduled for publication this fall. They are all children's books used by Jewish children in their religious schools.

Nan McGlennon Comstock writes of her younger son David's engagement.

1919

The class celebrated its thirtieth anniversary with a luncheon at the Century Club on June 18, with 19 members attending. The class welcomed Pauline Moore who was able to attend a meeting for the first time in many years. Pauline is now a nurse at Monroe County Hospital.

Conversation centered around weddings. Marion Henckell Levering's daughter, Marion, '49, was married on the afternoon of the luncheon and Esther Bentley LeMessurier's son Bruce, '49, was married the following week. Eleanor Carbutt Gilbert's daughter Virginia, x '50, was married July 2.

Rena Stebbins Craig's husband has been made dean of Drew Seminary, Drew Forest, Madison, N. J.

1921

Gladys Welch's career as secretary to the president of Eastman Kodak Company was featured in a recent article in the Rochester Times-Union.

Katharine Anderson Strelski had a poem, "A Nostromo", published in the October, 1948, Harper's Magazine. Katharine is an editor, researcher and bibliographer in the field of Slavonic Literature, and is editing "The Anthology of Russian National Character." Vassar College reports that she is now traveling in Europe, but receives her mail at Vassar.

Charlotte Westcott Johnson entertained the class at a picnic at her home on June 8.

Lacy Gay Pirnie's new address is 221 South Pine St., Lansing, Mich. Her husband is a professor at Michigan State College; her oldest daughter, Cynthia, teaches music at Kalamazoo, and her other daughter and son are in high school.

Recent graduates are Ruth Loomis Wegner's son, Lawrence, who graduated from Harvard in February and is now a student at Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, and Delora Hopkins Engert's son who is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate from the UR.

Sympathy is extended to Iona Atkin Thorne on the death of her father and to Lacy Gay Pirnie and Ruth Goldstein Samuel's on the loss of their mothers.

1924

Forty members of the class returned to Prince Street for their twenty-fifth reunion on June 18. Members from Miami, Detroit, Washington and New York attended the reunion activities which were climaxxed by a picnic supper at the home of Katherine Barber Swift. Members unable to be present sent letters and telegrams.

New officers named were chairman, Marie Le May Woodams, and secretary-treasurer, Adair Wellington Bartholomew.

1925

Thirty-two members attended the class reunion and luncheon on June 18. May Taylor traveled the greatest distance, 320 miles, in order to attend and told the class a bit about her experiences as a WAC in Italy and Germany. Plans were made for a twenty-fifth anniversary reunion in 1950 with Mary Channell as chairman.

Marion Webster Olney's husband, William, died in June.

Gladys Adams' parents celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary last spring.

Jessie Ramsay de Witt is teaching at the Rochester School for the Deaf.

Dorothy Bissell Martin's daughter Ruth received her degree in home economics from Ohio State this June and Dorrie Booth Adams' older son Robert finished his course at Yale with a Phi Beta Kappa key.

Norri Hull Carman, her husband, and their five children were in Rochester in June on their way to Green Lake, Wis., for the summer where Jack will be camp physician for part of their stay. In the fall the family will live at the Colgate-Rochester Divinity School.

1926
Twenty-six class members attended the reunion on June 18 for which Barbara Hulip Robinson served as chairman.

New officers for next year will be: Chairman, Esther Torpy Dutton; secretary, Ruth Hollander Hill, and fund chairman, Emma Donk.

Meeting at the Reunion Luncheon on June 18 were 34 class members. Chosen as the new officers are Ruth Asmus Howard, chairman; Edith Savage Durfee, treasurer; and Bertha Taylor Crothers, secretary.

Hazel Wilbrahim sailed for Europe on June 15. She plans to visit England, Denmark and Sweden.

Two weddings that will take place this summer will be those of Anne Miller, '49, daughter of Mary Shedd Miller, and Jeanne Davis, x'47, daughter of Helen Higgins Davis.

In September Mildred Gleichauf Gordon plans to return to Rochester from Hong Kong, China, where she and her husband, Robert, and the children have been spending some time. They plan to leave the children in Europe.

Ida Padesford, assistant librarian in the Reference Library at Asheville, N. C. has had an article published in the April issue of Hygeia. Another article will be published soon in braille and will be sent to all English-speaking countries by the National Braille Tests Association.

1929
Twenty-five of the class met for a twentieth reunion luncheon on June 18 at the Roosevelt Apartment Dining Room.

Glennie Baker Schutz has been serving as chairman of the Kinder-Karo, a welfare organization sponsored by American women stationed in Heidelberg. Their work is primarily with children but they also assist many old people and refugees.

1931
Bethine Coe Pyles writes from Washington that they have a new home and a new baby, number five, a son.

The Rochester Times-Union recently featured Ruth Yelowich Rosenberg in an article in its series on "Women in Music." The article cited Ruth's ability as a teacher and her varied interests.

Mary Greene Matthew's new home is at 1790 Poppy Avenue, Menlo Park, Calif.

1937
Peter and Ruth Schlosburg Lowy welcomed twin sons, Robert William and Richard Frank, on March 12. Ruth writes that she is curious as to whether there are any other twins in the class.

In January, Marjorie Marr was married to J. J. Logan. Their address is Box 1014, Monterey, Calif.

June Ewell was married to William Z. Johnson on April 16 and is living at 3300 East Ave., Rochester.

Jean Griswold Mead and her husband, Leonard, are back at Tufts College after having been connected with the Navy Department since before the war. They have just moved into their new home in Winchester, Mass.

Other new homeowners are Roger and Ruth Lungor Cobleigh who have purchased a home at 325 Rye Rd., Rochester.

Martha Hulicke Morlock's new son, James Alden Morlock, arrived May 1.

1939
Norma Brostead Abbott's new address is 22 Wellesley Rd., Stoughton, Mass. She has been acting as a dog-sitter for the Harr's cocker "Mister" while Faith Niles Hurt and husband Bill enjoy a trip south.

Anne Schumacher Hammond and Margaret Stobbs Farris have new homes. Anne's is at 120 Mount Airey Dr. and Margaret's at 98 Catalpa Dr., Rochester.

Lois Ann Hamill was born December 28 to Edward and Eleanor Robertson Hamill at Ithaca Memorial Hospital. Her sister Jean is two years old.

Bertha Peterson Harper has accepted a position in Washington as research psychologist in the Personnel Research Section of the Adjutant General's Office.

Dorothy Ferguson was married to Jerold B. Foland on June 25.

Jane Schult Brown's second son, Collin, was born in April.

1940
The class gathered in the Women's Faculty Club on the Prince Street Campus for a luncheon on June 25. Fran Stevenson Newberg and Nancy Billingham Countryman planned the party. A picnic to which husbands and children will be invited is being arranged for September 10.

Lillian Altman Courtheoux welcomed a new son Richard James on March 25.

Esther Teller Swamer writes that Fred has received his Ph.D. The Swamers are planning to remain in Durham, N. C. for another year because Fred has been offered a post-doctorate fellowship there.

1942
Jane Tennant Anbro's daughter Patricia Jane was born in Huntington, L. I. on May 26.

Betty Heise Goetz's second son Clifford Alan arrived May 21.

Mary Powers Moody, her husband and three daughters are moving in July to Santa Rosa, Calif., where Dr. Moody, a pediatrician, is setting up practice.

Justine Furman Harris and her family attended the YWCA conference in June at Silver Bay where Charles was the camp doctor.

June Buetzel has been graduated from the School of Advanced International Studies, Washington, with a master of arts degree in international relations, and has been appointed to the position of program director of the YWCA in Mexico City.

Jane Ladd has been made assistant director of the School of Nursing at Strong Memorial Hospital.

Juanna Warner received her master of science degree in bacteriology and public health from Michigan State College in June. She has been appointed instructor in the department of bacteriology and public health there.

Bob and Winnie Martin Fowler have added Dean Robert Fowler, born March 18, to their family. Their older son Doug is three years old.

1943
Twenty-six members of the class came back to campus for their reunion on June 18. They attended the luncheon and met for dinner at the Women's Faculty Club.

Robert William Barker II has taken up his residence with Robert and Eleanor Beach Barker of Ardmore, Pa.

Twins have joined the family of Carla Glaser Chotzen and her husband Walter. The twins, Yvonne and Daniel, were born this spring in Seattle, Wash.

Esther Miller is being sent to Johns Hopkins for a year's training in public health by the U.S. Public Health Division.

Margaret Raynsford Benedict received her Ph.D. in psychology at the UR Commencement. Her son, Craig, was born last September.

1944
Twenty-one class members met at the reunion luncheon June 18.

Alice Reilly has received a fellowship at Radcliffe to study Romance languages.

1945
Sixteen of the class attended the reunion luncheon.

Phyllis Alleman writes that she left on June 25 to lead a student group of five men and five women to Denmark. Phyl is working for the Experiment in International Living, Inc., is located in Putney, Vt.
Jean Anthony Tischer and her husband have purchased the controlling interest in the teen-age publication, "Junior Prom," a magazine devoted to the high schools of Rochester and Monroe County. Jean is editor-in-chief.

Joy Gordon was married to John Willard Jones on May 8. The Joneses will be making their home in Oak Ridge, Tenn.

The Wesley A. Sagers (Betty Bebb) are the proud parents of Beverly Ann, born June 6.

Ann Goodenough Dinsie, her husband Bud, and Bruce and Ted Krihak Lansdale, '47, are touring the west this summer. They bought a car and sleeping bags and will do manual labor for their vittles.

Muriel Carrier Meyer writes that Jerry is working on his Ph.D. dissertation at Columbia University and next September she will be an instructor at U.C.L.A. Pidge is leaving her job at Life. They will start their trek westward sometime in July or August.

1946

Thirteen members of the class attended the reunion luncheon on June 18. Among the out-of-towners were Doris Alamian Foster, Dorie Kellon, D. A. Constantine McCarty, and Ben Field.

Nancy Ruth Shaw, daughter of Ruth Gianniny Shaw and granddaughter of Mabel Hewlett Gianniny, '16, was born May 15 in Stuttgart, Germany. The Shaws are flying home in June and will make their home in Cleveland where Dr. Shaw will be a resident at the Cleveland Clinic.

Mickey Murphy Meade has a new daughter, Elizabeth Mary, born April 27.

Jean and Kate Burnham are spending the summer at Cornell University.

Rita Thornhill was married June 18 in Canandaigua to Alfred James Grose.

Anne Richards became the bride of the Rev. George H. Thompson on May 29.

Jane Berggren Blizard and her husband Robert were awarded doctor of philosophy degrees at M.I.T. this June. It marked the first time in the history of M.I.T. that doctor of philosophy degrees have been conferred on a husband and wife at the same time.

Sheila Smith is teaching journalism at Bergen Junior College in Teaneck, N. J.

1947

Irene Schopfer Solomon's, daughter Lynn was born April 15. Irene and her husband are living in Phoenix, Ariz.

Polly Pierce was married in New York on May 21 to WIlbur Orange Daniel.

Cynthia Ann Pope, daughter of Bill and Susan Moore Pope, arrived May 28.

Jane Roberts was married July 2 to Harvey Pastel, an intern in a Hartford, Conn., hospital. Dr. Cochran, Carol Farmer, and Louise Keppner, '46 were attendants.

Elaine Fischer has a new job in market research in Chicago.

Among our European travelers are Char Woods who sailed in May for a summer's trip and Carol Farmer, Terry Levering and Mary Jean Flanagan who left June 6 for a six-week tour. Nancy Levy Cohen and Pete will be in London this summer where Pete is attending summer school and Marjorie Park will spend six weeks in August and September visiting relatives in England.

Joy Cohn Starr has a son in June.

Nancy Bartlett received her master's degree at the UR this June.

Barbara Hauker Giana and Bob are moving to Boston where Bob will study in Harvard's Graduate School of Fine Arts.

Betty French was married in July to William Engan and will be living in Woodbury, N. J.

Lois Durand was married in New York on June 10 to Dr. Arturo Perez.

Carl and Margaret Kall Gage planned a bicycle tour of Europe this summer. They expect to visit friends in Italy, France, Germany, Holland and Belgium and to go to England and Switzerland.

Ruth Krautwurst's engagement to Arnold Sorensen of Washington has been announced. The wedding is planned for summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Cedric L. Nussbaum (Marjorie Stern) announce the birth of David Arthur on June 3.

1948

Nora North Fairman is writing copy, aiding in the make-up of the publication and composing ads for a magazine called "The Ready-to-Wear Scout."

Trudy Metville was married June 4 to Jack Hart. In the fall, Trudy and Jack will be living in Buffalo, where Jack will study dentistry at the University of Buffalo.

On April 30 May Robinson was married to Harold A. Carlson, Jr. in New York. Alice Nemets became Mrs. Charles R. Castner, Jr. on June II. Ferol Montgomery and Wendy Mann were bridesmaids.

Denise Hirschfeld writes most enthusiastically from New York about her new job. She is working for the French Line, the "Transat," as it is known in the trade. She says that it is amazing to see the number of lucky people on their way to Europe. Denise hopes to have a free passage herself in three year's time.

Alice Holmes is engaged to John G. Phillips.

The engagement of Mary Virginia Burns to Brion J. Callan has been announced by her parents.

Paul Douglas Lyon was born May 30. He is the son of John and Betty Mack Lyon.

Diddy Faulkner is a student at the Latin American Institute in New York. She returned in November from five months in Europe.

Diana Van Geyt and Kevin Bunnell, '48, were married June 15. Tad Krihak Lansdale was Dinah's attendant.

1949

Combining Commencement and weddings were several June graduates: Betty McFadden was married June 11 to Harry Schulte. On June 19, Gloria Gerber was married to Joshua Goldberg and on June 20, Audrey Anderson became the bride of Robert Gurley.

The engagement of Betty Neracker to James Davis has been announced.

Carol Lendrim is engaged to Pete Williams, '50.

MEDICAL SCHOOL

The following class notes from the Medical School have been prepared as the result of a questionnaire distributed from the office of Dean George H. Whipple. The REVIEW acknowledges its thanks to members of his staff who were responsible for this material.

1929

Besides his private practice in proctology, D. Olan Meeker is assistant surgeon of proctology at the Greenwich Hospital, Greenwich, Conn., and president of the Medical Research Affilies, Inc. of Riverside, Conn. P. W. Harris is health commissioner of the Stark County General Health District, with headquarters in Canton, Ohio.

1930

E. Hollister Davis has a private practice in Baltimore, Md.

The present address of C. Arthur Eden is Route 2, Box 164, Woodenville, Wash.

Paul M. Levin is engaged in private practice in Dallas, Tex.

1931

A staff member of the Blue Hill Memorial Hospital, Philip L. Gray, South Brooksville, Me., practices in general medicine with special attention to medical ophthalmology and refraction.

Honolulu is now the home of Francis I. Nance, who is in private practice in association with the Medical Group there.

George Hunter O'Kane holds the position of coordinator for the Veterans' Med-
Private practice in dermatology, occupies Gordon B. Taylor in St. Petersburg, Fla. George P. Keveney is a surgeon at the Burbank Hospital in Fitchburg, Mass.

A busy specialist in orthopedics is Kay Emanuel Laker of Canton, Ohio. In addition to private practice, he is on the senior staff of Mercy Hospital, the consulting staff of Molly Stark Sanatorium, and the consulting staff of Central Clinic Hospital in nearby Salem.

1932
Helen Kingsbury is an anesthesiologist in Kansas City, Mo.

Henry Brody is an associate pathologist at Beth Israel Hospital, New York.

Lynn Jasper Seward is in private practice in Berwin, Wis.

Middletown, N. Y., is the home of Anthony J. Morreale, who is engaged in private practice in general surgery.

Clark E. Troutman is in private practice in Gorham, N. Y.

"Stop in any time," says a note from H. A. Tagett of Ashbubula, Ohio. He combines private practice and a hospital staff position, is past president of the county medical society, and is a commander in the U.S.N.R., inactive.

Carroll W. Johnson is assistant orthopedist at Memorial Hospital, Worcester, Mass., in addition to his private practice in orthopedics.

1933
Carl B. Alden, J. J. Brevis, and William Davidson all have private practices. Brevis is a staff member of the Binghamton City Hospital and is Broome County coroner.

Camp Detrick, Frederick, Md., is headquarters for Aborn D. Pollack, who works in pathology with the Biological Division, Chemical Corps.

Alexander Petrielli writes that he is in private practice in San Francisco and is also radiologist at Mary's Help Hospital.

Enicke S. Greenwood Waters has a private laboratory in Louisville, Ky.

Philip H. Landers has been resident in ophthalmology at the Veteran's Administration Hospital in Ft. Howard, Md. He writes, "After July 1, I expect to be in private practice in Binghamton, N. Y."

Columbia, S. C., is the home of Richard Bedon Josey, who is in private practice in pediatrics there.

1934
The Palo Alto Hospital, operated by Stanford University, is directed by William R. Duden.

F. Mansel Dunn is affiliated with the general practice sections of both the St. Lawrence and the Sparrow Hospitals in Lansing, Mich. and is carrying on a private practice.

An instructor in medicine at Columbia University, assistant physician at the Presbyterian Hospital and Vanderbilt Clinic, and with a doctor with a private practice, is Michael J. Lepore of New York City.

From Hickory, N. C., Berkeley, Calif., and Montgomery, Ala., respectively, come reports of private practices of Charlotte M. Gast, G. D. Brown, and Karl B. Benkmidt. Dr. Brown writes that area alumni hope to have a reunion of U. of R. Medical and Dental group in San Francisco.

Theodore R. Seidman is in private practice in obstetrics and gynecology in New York City. He is also connected with the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology, Beth Israel Hospital.

Robert W. Pollock is engaged in private practice in Baker, Ore.

Private practice in otolaryngology occupies Albert C. Johnson, in Portland, Me.

Mahlon Russell Hasic is engaged in private practice (obstetrics) in Tacoma, Wash.

Pocatello, Idaho, is the home of Forrest H. Howard, who is in private practice.

Frank Melia is in private practice in Syracuse, N. Y.

John J. Lehner is in private practice in urology in Ft. Wayne, Ind.

1935
S. C. Bump is living in Ridgewood, N. J., where he has a private practice and works in general and traumatic surgery at the Hackensack Hospital.

Marietta, Ohio, is the home of Richard H. Sloan, who is engaged in private practice there.

Auninette Rose-Parry and Allen A. Parry ('36) are in private practice in Madison, N. J.

John A. Rogers is in private practice in Youngstown, Ohio.

Specialist in obstetrics and gynecology is Stanley B. Peters, who is in private practice in Kent, Ohio.

Daniel M. Swan, of Quincy, Mass., is in private practice specializing in internal medicine. He is physician-in-chief and cardiologist at Quincy City Hospital.

Frederick Dalton Hughes, of Rochester, N. Y., has been assistant physician at Genese Hospital. He joined the Eastman Kodak Medical Department in February as a full-time physician.

"In general practice—except no obstetrics or pediatrics," writes Arthur E. Martin from New Holland, Pa. Dr. Martin is on the staff of Lancaster General Hospital, Department of Cardiology, Lancaster, Pa.

Sidney Leibowitz is engaged in private practice in Internal Medicine in New York City, and is Adjunct Physician, Beth Israel Hospital.

Boston is professional headquarters for Edward J. Levenson, whose home address is Newton Centre, Mass. Dr. Levenson is in private practice.

1936
Ralph W. Alexander is assistant professor, Department of Clinical and Preventive Medicine and attending physician to the Cornell Clinic and Infirmary at Cornell University at Ithaca.

The State Mutual Life Insurance Company of Worcester, Mass, has Francis P. Bicknell as its assistant medical director.

Working in urology at the Woodland Clinic in Woodland, Calif, is Robert A. Burns.

Burton S. Marsh is with the Veterans Administration Hospital in Montgomery, Ala.

S. Arthur Locchio is engaged in general surgery in New York City. He holds the following appointments: University Hospital, assistant attending surgeon; assistant professor of surgery, Post-Graduate Medical School of N.Y.U.-Bellevue Medical Center; Bellevue Hospital, associate attending surgeon.

W. R. Liebschner is in private practice in Sandusky, Ohio.

1937
Joseph Thaler reports himself "in private practice-general" in Spokane, Wash.

William J. Tenief is engaged in private practice in Cleveland, Ohio.

San Antonio, Tex., is the address of David M. Keedy, who is in private practice specializing in neurosurgery.

Nathaniel Jones is in private practice in Jacksonville, Fla.

Frank F. Becker has a private practice in Ridgewood, N. J., and is attending in obstetrics at Paterson General Hospital.

Besides instructing in medicine at Tulane University School of Medicine, Joseph K. Bradford works in the Ochsner Clinic in New Orleans in the section on chest disease.

Proctor P. Dishbro has a practice in Cleveland Heights.

Practicing in psychiatry and psychoanalysis in New York City is Joseph Furst.

Engaged in practice in Hawthorne, N. J. and holding an appointment in gynecology at St. Joseph's Hospital in Paterson is Marguerite A. Schafer.

1938
William J. Tenief is engaged in private practice in Youngstown, Ohio.

At Geneseo Hospital, Rochester, is Harry Kaufman, who has an appointment in pediatrics.
Among others in private practice are R. Allison Warrick, Thomas L. Bours, and C. E. Dungan in Hollywood, Calif.; Winlow, Wash., and Wellsville, N. Y., respectively.

John B. Goetsch is doing research at the Yale University Medical School.

Director of Anesthesia at St. Mary’s Hospital of Waterbury, Conn. is William Grillo.

Although at present doing research on a special fellowship granted by the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md., Jean Captain Sabine expects to join the Medical Research Staff of the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory of the University of California, Los Alamos, N. M., on August 15.

James Pennoyer formerly a resident obstetrician in St. Louis, Mo., is now associate to Dr. R. J. Crossen there and clinical assistant in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology, Washington University.

Miriam Mellon Pennoyer, his wife, is assistant in pediatrics at Washington University and St. Louis Children’s Hospital, St. Louis.

In private practice are Robert E. Ingersoll (Boston), Richard S. Knowlton (Cleveland), and John A. Knapp (Elizabethtown, Tenn.).

Harry M. Lowd, Jr., is in private practice as a pediatrician, in Salem, Mass.

William F. Owen, Jr., is an internist at Santa Ana Clinic, Santa Ana, Calif.

Ralph B. Woolf is resident in gynecology at Barnes Hospital and assistant in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Washington University School of Medicine, St. Louis, Mo.

School physician for Great Neck, L. I., N. Y., is Mary Steichen (Mrs. Frank A. Calderone).

Atlee B. Hendricks is resident in internal medicine, University Hospital, Iowa City, Iowa.

Robert D. Moore is an orthopedic surgeon at Kankakee Clinic, Kankakee, Ill.

East Canton, Ohio; Corning, N. Y.; Portland, Me., and Yuma Ariz., are the cities where E. Joel Davis, Lewis J. Graham, Joseph S. Ham, and William A. Phillips, respectively, have chosen to set up their own practices.

Senior pathologist for the New York State Department of Health is John N. Abbott.

Group practice (private and industrial) is conducted by Robert W. Cordwell in Kellogg, Idaho.

Herbert A. Wanner holds the positions of associate professor of pediatrics and bacteriology of the Kansas School of Medicine in Kansas City, Kan., and associate pediatrician at the Bell Memorial Hospital.

Arnold F. Summis Jr. will be with the surgery department of the North Shore Medical Group, Huntington, N. Y. in the near future. Previously he was associate surgeon at the Huntington Hospital and assistant attendant surgeon at Kings County Hospital as well as an instructor in surgery at the Long Island College of Medicine.

In Santa Ana, Calif., Frederick B. Mears has set up practice in surgery.

1940

Mary G. Ritchey (Mrs. Lester P. Wicks) writing from St. Louis, “I was married recently and am not working right now, but hope to soon be back at work in pathology, in which I have been taking resident training. Will resume training as pathology resident, St. Louis County Hospital, Clayton, Mo.”

Instructor in the Department of Pediatrics, University of Washington, Seattle, is Frederic C. Moll.

In private practice in pediatrics is Warren S. Kelley, whose office is in Lakewood, Ohio.

Edward F. Higgins has an appointment at Cortland County Hospital, Cortland, N. Y. (Ear, Nose, and Throat), and is also in specialized private practice in Cortland.

Stanley A. Leovy has begun part-time private practice in New Haven, Conn. He is instructor in psychiatry, Yale School of Medicine, and assistant psychiatrist, Yale University Department of Health.

Lucile W. Hutaff is instructor in internal medicine and associate in pathology at Bowman Gray School of Medicine, Winston Salem, N. C.

Louis Grant Knapp has been assistant resident in obstetrics and gynecology at St. Louis City Hospital. Upon completing his residency July 1, he opened practice in Butte, Mont.

Augusta, Me., is the address of Roger G. Metcalf, who is gastroenterologist, Medical Service, Veterans Hospital, Togus, Me.

Charles L. Spurr is chief of medicine, M. D. Anderson Hospital for Cancer Research, Houston, Tex.

The practices of James Goodell and Salvatore S. Piacece have been set up in Jamestown, N. Y., and Hartford, Conn., respectively.

Angus M. Brooks is assistant in charge of the anesthesia department at the Concord Hospital.

F. Gordon Grant is a post-graduate fellow in medicine and resident physician at the Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, Mich.

Howard B. Leve is psychiatrist with the Veterans Administration in New York City.

From October, 1947, until July, 1948, Richter H. Wiggal was in the post graduate school of Johns Hopkins University. Since, he has been fellow in syphilology at that hospital.

1941

At least four members of the class have been working under government auspices. In Veterans Administration hospitals have been Frederic Sherwood (Department of Internal Medicine, VA Hospital, Oakland, Calif.) and Myron L. Pardee (chief resident, orthopedic service, Crete VA Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio). Dr. Pardee plans to enter private practice this summer. Arthur Kornberg and Leon A. Hoppel are in Bethesda, Md., with the U. S. Public Health Service.

Stewart F. Peterson is in private practice in Elmsira, N. Y., and Horace F. Husser, is engaged in private practice in Salinas, Calif.

Charles S. Hellitaj is assistant physician and associate anesthetologist at Hartford Hospital, Hartford, Conn.

Edgar P. Berry is a plastic surgical resident at University Hospital, New York City.

John R. Close will soon become resident in the Department of Orthopedic Surgery, University of California School of Medicine at San Francisco. At present he is a resident orthopedic surgeon at the Merritt Hospital in Oakland.

William D. Crandall of Dover, N. H., Joseph B. Deisher Jr. of Windsor, Colo., and Milton B. Morey of Morehead City, N. C. have set up private practices.

Assistant resident in obstetrics and gynecology at the Sloane Hospital for Women and the Presbyterian Hospital is Roger H. Emerson.

In July, Clement A. Finch became associate professor of medicine at the University of Washington, Seattle. He had been in private practice in medicine at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital and Harvard Medical School, Boston.

Holding a part-time position as Orange County physician and carrying on a practice of his own is the job of Charles R. Sins of Orlando, Fla.

Formerly engaged in a preceptorship in Cleveland, Ohio, Allen E. Walker now has a private practice (dermatology) in Lake-wood, Ohio.
George D. Whedon is instructor in medicine at the Cornell University Medical College and a physician to O.P.D. at the New York Hospital.

1942

Assistant director of the Johns Hopkins Hospital is Richard J. Ackart.

Eliah Adams is a fellow in physiological chemistry at the School of Medicine, University of California, Los Angeles.

After his third year of training in dermatology and syphilology at the University of California Hospital, James R. Allen will soon start practice with Dr. Norman Epstein in San Francisco.

Along with his own practice in psychiatry in Beverly Hills, William M. Asher also works in the Psychiatric Clinic in Los Angeles.

Charles Gaylord is at present a resident in internal medicine at the Veterans Hospital, Newington, Conn.

Now a resident in Children's Orthopedics at the Ellen Fitzgerald Polio Unit, Monroe, N. C., Thomas D. Yocum will soon go to Duke University in the orthopedic service there until next January.

Rudolph P. Nadbath is a member of the Navy Medical Corps. At present he is assigned for instruction under Dr. C. S. O'Brien in the Eye Department, University Hospitals, Iowa City, Iowa. He expects to be assigned a new duty station about September.

In private practice in Kenton, Ohio, is Robert T. Maurer.

Alfred W. Harder is in general practice in Kingston, N. Y. He is a member of the active surgical staff at Kingston Hospital and is on the courtesy staff at Benedictine Hospital.

The Veterans Administration Hospital at Montgomery, Ala., is headquarters for Robert N. Osmundsen, who is a surgeon in preceptorship training.

Richard H. Stockel is senior psychiatrist at Rochester (N. Y.) State Hospital.

Howard P. Haswell has begun private practice in anesthesiology in Tucson, Ariz. Richard D. Haines is in Temple, Tex., as consultant in the Department of Internal Medicine, Scott and White Clinic.

1943

Surgeons lead the list of 1943 alumni reporting:

Harry W. Hale Jr. is assistant resident in surgery, Meyer Memorial Hospital, Buffalo 15, N. Y.

Edward T. Krementz became resident in surgery at New Haven Hospital on July 1, and will be an instructor in surgery at Yale. He has been completing an associate residency in surgery (oncology) as Jane Cof-a private practice in plastic and general surgery.

Hubert A. Carbone is a senior psychiatrist at Norwich State Hospital, Norwich, Conn.

While planning on entering private practice this August, B. Otis Cobb has been chief resident at the Children’s Hospital of East Bay, Oakland, Calif.

Assistant resident and resident at the Mount Sinai Hospital is Sidney H. Cohen.

George A. Cohn holds a fellowship in neurology at Columbia University.

Finishing his residency in surgery at the Mary Imogene Bassett Hospital, Cooperstown, N. Y. is Arthur P. Darling.

Soon to go to Montreal, Quebec, as assistant resident in general surgery at the Royal Victoria Hospital, McGill University, Alfred M. Decker Jr. is at the Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, Mo., as assistant resident in general surgery.

Planning to finish his residency in obstetrics and gynecology, at Bellevue Hospital, New York City, in June, 1950 is William A. Dickson.

John J. Douglas is a radiologist at Mercy Hospital, Canton, Ohio.

W. M. Edmonstone has opened practice in Mystic, Conn. He has been resident in medicine in Hartford, Conn.

Leonard J. Gallant is head of a laboratory, instructor, and psychiatrist at the Johns Hopkins Hospital and Medical School.

Formerly a graduate student in physics at Columbia University, John R. Geary Jr. is working with the Atomic Energy Commission on a fellowship at Presbyterian Hospital, New York.

Ralph G. Victor has a full-time appointment as instructor in medicine at the University of Chicago.

Holding a residency in obstetrics and gynecology at the Naval Hospital, Long Beach, Calif., is Charles E. Weber.

At Boston City Hospital as a fellow in medicine is Edward B. Wells.

Taking training in orthopedic surgery at the Cleveland Clinic Foundation is James R. Woodruff. He expects he might change to Crile Hospital, Cleveland in July.

1944

Doctors in this class carrying on private practices at present are David R. Bryan, Stove, Vt.; Herbert Enos, Chatsworth, Calif.; Sawyer A. Gilelden, Holley, N. Y.; Irvin Voit, Portland, Ore., Paul B. Wasson, Canton, Ohio, and William D. Welton Jr., Dayton, Ohio.

A general surgeon with the Kennecott Copper Co. and American Smelting and Refining Co. in Salt Lake City, Utah, is Preston James Burnham.

Following a hospital appointment as a fellow in hematology at Atlanta, Ga., John J. Butler is interning at Beevon Hospital, Wooster, Ohio.

William L. Clark is assistant resident in orthopedic surgery at the University of California Hospital and Medical School in San Francisco.

His wife, Patricia, is in private practice (pediatrics).

Three class members are in Rochester. Stuart W. McLeod is resident psychiatrist at Rochester State Hospital, with some change due this summer. At Highland Hospital as assistant resident in surgery is George W. Holton. Willis F. Weeden has completed his appointment as assistant resident in surgery at Strong Memorial Hospital and became resident at Highland in July.

Ben Rusiner is resident in thoracic surgery at Sea View Hospital, Staten Island, N. Y.

Paul R. Schroer has begun a two-year appointment as assistant resident in surgery, Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, Boston. He has previously been assistant in surgery, holding the AEC Postdoctoral Fellowship in the Medical Sciences there.

Members in private practice (general) include LaMar J. Hankamp, in Sand Diego, Calif., Howard C. Lehman, Buffalo, N. Y., and Lawrence W. Linderberg, Elmir, N. Y.

Dale E. Scholz is working in public health and preventive medicine with the Lawrence-Wabash County Health Department, Mount Carmel, Ill.

At Presbyterian Hospital in New York City is Charles F. Post, assistant dermatologist in the Vanderbilt Clinic. He is also assistant in practice (preceptee) to Dr. George C. Andrews.

Willard C. Schmidt is at Harvard Medical School, Boston, as research fellow in bacteriology and the Department of Bacteriology and Immunology.

Felix Cohen’s plans are not definite after the termination of his residency in neuropathology, Bedford, Mass. this December.

Changing from a research fellowship in medicine at New York Hospital to a resident in medicine at Memorial Hospital in July is Milton Dorwin.

John E. Edwards is a captain in the Army, a resident in ophthalmology.

Director of the State Bureau of Health, Augusta, Me. is Dean Fisher.

With private practice in Louisville in mind, Francis J. Smith is now chief resident surgeon at St. Joseph Infirmary there. William H. Smith is resident in pediatrics at the Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania.

Victor P. Toth of Lackawanna, N. Y. is senior medical resident at Meyer Memorial Hospital, Buffalo, N. Y.

At the Lutheran Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio, Richard S. Wilson is a resident training in surgery.

1945

David S. Baldwin is an assistant in medicine and holds a fellowship in physiology at the New York University College of Medicine.

William H. Bergstrom has been appointed assistant resident, Willard Parker Hospital, New York City. He has just completed a post-graduate course in pediatrics at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Until July, 1950, John R. Bottomy will be an assistant resident in obstetrics and gynecology at Bellevue Hospital, New York City.

Jeffrey E. Morris is Dickinson Research Fellow (University of Manchester, England) at Children’s Memorial Hospital, Montreal, Quebec. He anticipates joining the Department of Pediatrics at the UR in October.

Dickinson Lippard has begun a fellowship in general surgery at Camp Hill Hospital, Halifax, Nova Scotia, for one year. Following that, he contemplates general practice in Canada. He has just completed an appointment as senior interne at Queens General Hospital, Jamaica, L. I.

In Purcellville, Va. is Priscilla Foote Oliver (wife of Dr. Keith M. Oliver) who is combining homemaking and private practice—“general with emphasis on internal medicine.”

Harry D. Hunter has a residency in psychiatry at Butler Hospital, Providence, R. I. He has completed an appointment at McCloskey Veterans Administration Hospital, Temple, Tex.

Senior resident in anesthesiology at Huron Road Hospital, East Cleveland, Ohio, is Bernard H. Pender. He anticipates return to full active duty with the Navy next summer, with assignment to a teaching hospital in anesthesia, probably on the West Coast.

Frederick W. Meyer, Jr., is medical officer aboard the heavy cruiser U.S.S. Des Moines, U. S. Atlantic Fleet. He has completed a one-year residency in general surgery at U. S. Navy Hospital, St. Albans, N. Y.

Two members report themselves assistant residents in pediatrics. Franklin H. Schaefer is at New Haven Hospital, New Haven, Conn. Gerald Miller, who held this appointment at U. C. Hospital in San Francisco, returned in July to Strong Memorial.

Resident in medicine at White River Veterans Administration Hospital in Hanover, N. H., is John C. Moench.

William K. Rogers has a fellowship in surgery at University Hospital, Minneapolis, Minn.

A residency in surgery is held by Robert B. Pender, at Georgetown Medical Center, Washington, D. C.

In Iowa City, Iowa, Roy J. Philipp is assistant resident in pathology, University Hospitals, S. U. I.

David J. Seibel is at University Hospital, Minneapolis, Minn., as fellow in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

Intern at Children's Hospital, Buffalo, N. Y., is Charles Kennedy.

William J. McDermid is resident in medicine at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Nashville, Tenn., with resident status until July, 1950.

Serving with the U. S. Navy as flight surgeon aboard the aircraft carrier U. S. S. Palus is Robert L. Burdick.

James C. Burt is research assistant at the Chicago Lying-In Hospital but he expects appointment as assistant resident at Shone Hospital for Women, Columbia University, New York City.

Irwin D. Chow is at the Veterans Hospital, White River Junction, Vt., as a resident in internal medicine.

Harlow D. Dunton is resident psychiatrist at Rockland State Hospital, Orangeburg, N. Y.; and is attending graduate school at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons, Psychoanalytic Clinic for Training and Research.

Jefferson Medical College Hospital, Philadelphia, Pa., has as a surgical resident John B. Flick.

Jay B. Moses has been resident in urology, St. Francis Hospital, Peoria, III.

Manderson W. Phillips has been appointed assistant resident in surgery at Highland Hospital, Rochester.

Soon to start private practice in Longmont, Colo., Hugh S. Richards is at present an intern at the St. Louis Maternity Hospital and Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, Mo.

Morten Smith-Petersen, is junior resident in surgery, Cushing Veterans Administration Hospital, Framingham, Mass.

A resident in medicine, Herbert A. St. John will begin private practice next year. He is in Chambree, Ga.

Resident in surgery, St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester, is Charles P. Follis.

1946

At Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, Mo., W. Addison Clay has been assistant resident in medicine. He is now in the Department of Physiology, Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia.

Frederick M. Curtiss holds an appointment at Rochester General Hospital.

Soon to become assistant resident in medicine at Bellevue Hospital, Marion Davis is now chief resident in medicine in Jamaica, Long Island, N. Y.

Engaged in research at the Psycho-Acoustic Laboratory, Cambridge, Mass. is Robert Culembos.

Richard J. Nowak is house officer at the Johns Hopkins Hospital. He is working in obstetrics and gynecology.

A large percentage of the class of 1946 is now serving with the U. S. Armed Forces. Below is a list including the name, service, and present occupation of those from whom we have received information:

Phillips L. Bates, resident in urology, Naval Hospital, Bethesda, Md.
Kelly M. Berkeley, 98th General Hospital, U. S. Army.
James M. Cole, USNR, has been assistant to attending physician of Congress; was accepted for residency training in ENT as of June.
Charles W. Field, U. S. Army, Fort Knox, Ky.; will start residency training in anesthesiology at University of Minnesota Hospital, Minneapolis, Minn. next January.
John R. Fox Jr., has been ward officer on surgical service, Tilton General Hospital, Fort Dix, N. J.; now assistant resident in surgery, Genesee Hospital, Rochester.
Dell M. Gray, Army Medical Corps, Ft. Knox, Ky.
Donald E. Gregg, chief research physician of Medical Field Research Laboratory, Ft. Knox, Ky.
Donald R. Keener, with the Navy at Guam Memorial Hospital.

Elinor W. Midgley, Air Force flight surgeon at MacDill Air Force Base, Tampa, Fla.

William J. Natoli, U. S. Army, 49th General Hospital, Tokyo, Japan.

James A. Rafferty, Chief, Department of Biometrics, School of Aviation Medicine, Randolph Field, Tex.

Eleanor A. Woodbury, who has been resident in medicine at Rochester General Hospital, became fellow in bacteriology at the UR on July 1.

Commissioned officer with the U. S. Public Health Service in Bethesda, Md., is Arnold W. Pratt. He is engaged in biophysical research in the laboratory of Dr. Ralph G. Wycoff.

Robert N. Phillips is completing his appointment as resident in pediatrics at University of California Hospital, San Francisco, and will enter private practice this summer, "whereabouts unknown."

1947

Five pediatricians have reported their positions and prospects. Max L. Rohrer is in Cleveland as resident at Babies' and Children's Hospital. In Richmond, Va., is Robert W. Saudanner Jr., who lists two positions: junior assistant resident at the Medical College of Virginia, and first lieutenant in the Army Civilian Residency Training Program. Donald A. Sutherland is in residency training at University Hospital, Ann Arbor, Mich. George B. Kempton plans to complete his basic requirements at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit in the coming months. He completed an appointment as chief resident, contagious diseases, at Herman Kiefer Hospital, Detroit, on July 1. At Buffalo Children's Hospital as an intern is John S. McRoberts. He will move this summer to an assistant residency at the Children's Hospital of Michigan.

At present a second year intern in surgery at Franklin Hospital, San Francisco, Thomas E. Barber will become an orthopedic assistant resident under Drs. Abbott and Bost but as yet he is not sure just where he will be located.

Edith Searles Porter recently completed an assistant residency in contagious diseases at Sydenham Hospital. She gives her address as Baltimore, Md.

John W. Wood is completing an appointment as assistant resident in medicine at Children's Memorial Hospital, Montreal. He will shortly become chief resident in pediatrics at Syracuse (N. Y.) University Hospitals.

Studying at Harvard and M.I.T. is David R. Kominz.

Daniel W. Kramer has been in private practice in Oberlin, Ohio. In July he began a general practice residency at University of Colorado Medical Center.

A half-dozen graduates of '47 report themselves in surgical positions. Roger Farmam Miles is resident at Mary Hitchcock Memorial Hospital, Hanover, N. H. Assistant resident at Bradford Hospital, Bradford, Pa., is Charles D. Watler. Samuel W. Hunter has a hospital appointment with the Department of Surgery, University of Minnesota Medical School, Minneapolis. At Flower & Fifth Avenue Hospitals in New York City is Theodore R. Halse, now a surgical intern; he expects to become resident (first year) in June, 1950. Alex N. Morris is at the New England Medical Center, Boston, as resident.

Robert A. Kelley is assistant resident urologist, Brady Urological Institute, Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore.

Interning at Genesee Hospital, Rochester, is Irving Baybitt.

Roland F. Beers Jr. has two more years of graduate work in biochemistry at M.I.T., Cambridge, Mass.

Finishing his first year of internship in Rochester is Harvey Blanct Jr.

In the near future, Patrick F. B. Ray will be at Georgetown University School of Medicine, Washington, D. C., with a fellowship in medicine. He has been interning in pediatrics at Salt Lake General Hospital, Utah.

Donald H. Brown expects to set up a practice of his own in Rockland, Me., after completing his assistant residency in medicine at Hartford Hospital, Conn., this summer.

Holding an appointment until 1950 as assistant resident in pediatrics in New York City Babies Hospital is James A. Bush.

While holding a fellowship in surgery at the University of Chicago Willbur L. Flesch is planning an assistant residency in urology in Albany, N. Y.

Henry T. Lang Jr. is an intern at Children's Hospital, Boston.

James V. Maloney Jr. has a research fellowship in physiology at Harvard School of Public Health. He plans to do two years of investigative work before returning to clinical surgery.

Soon to become assistant resident in medicine, Cushing General Hospital, Framingham, Mass., Jack E. Presberg is intern in pathology at Massachusetts Memorial Hospital, Boston.

Warren E. Porter has been assistant resident in neurology at Baltimore City Hospital and expects to become a fellow in neurology at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

University Hospital, Columbus, Ohio claims Edward K. Ryder Jr. as a senior intern in internal medicine.

Doing full-time research as a fellow in pediatrics and pathology at Johns Hopkins University Medical School, Henry C. Stoll hopes soon to be in academic pathology.

Robert L. Tuttle is assistant in preventive medicine, Institute of Tropical Medicine, Bowman Gray School of Medicine, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Entering general practice after terminating his pediatric residency at Seaside Memorial Hospital, Long Beach, Calif., is G. Wilson Yandell, Jr.

1948

David W. Alling is a rotating intern, now at Arnot-Ogden Memorial Hospital, Elmira, N. Y. In the near future, he will start a residency in tuberculosis at Hermann E. Biggs Memorial Hospital, Ithaca.

In his second year of a two-year internship in medicine is John W. Bengtson, Cleveland, Ohio.

Interning at the U.S. Naval Hospital, Long Beach, Calif., Edward W. Bird will soon come to Strong Memorial Hospital as an administrative assistant.

Richard S. Blachter is intern at Bellevue Hospital. He has been at Beth Israel Hospital.

J. L. Brody is an intern in Grace Hospital, Detroit, Mich.

James S. Browne has been a rotating intern at Baltimore City Hospital where he has started his surgical internship.

Daniel R. Carroll is an intern at Atlantic City Hospital, Atlantic City, N. J.

Burton M. Cohen will finish intern in Medicine at the Maimonides Hospital Service of the Long Island Medical College next year.

Molly P. Coulter after interning in Chicago, III., has joined the staff of the Atomic Energy Project at the UR.

Frederick S. Dickinson is interning at Homer G. Phillips Hospital, Portland, Me. Interning at the Research and Educational Hospital of the University of Illinois, Philip H. Dickinson will soon become a junior surgical resident there.

In the near future James F. Dougherty, now an intern at Rochester General, will become an assistant resident in pathology there.

John B. Field, formerly an intern at the New York Hospital, Cornell University Medical College, is now assistant resident in medicine there.

Alice H. Foster is a rotating intern, soon to be a first year medical resident at St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester. Her husband, James J. Foster, will be junior assistant resident in surgery at Strong Memorial Hospital.

Expecting a residency in anesthesia after completing his internship at St. Luke's Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio is Charles H. Gallup.

Robert J. Gill will complete his internship at Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia, Pa., next June.

J. Raymond Glidie has begun a one-year rotating internship at Baltimore City Hospital.

Robert A. Graves is an intern at Beverly Hospital, Beverly, Mass.

Several members of the class are completing internships and moving this summer to residencies and even, in one instance, to private practice. Ruth T. Rogers, who has held a rotating internship at St. Louis City Hospital, will enter general practice in Daytona Beach, Fla. She writes, "As the time draws near to leave, my knees shake and I wonder how I ever thought one year would even nick the surface, but entering practice with my aunt will make up for a lot."

Leslie A. Walker has begun an appointment as assistant resident in obstetrics and gynecology at Maryland General Hospital, Baltimore. He has been intern in surgery at Emory University Hospital, Ga.

Moving from internship to assistant residency in surgery at the New York Hospital is Antonio F. LaSorte.

Lucille McManus Heggeness is assistant resident in pathology at Rochester General Hospital.

Louis Jensen has been intern in medicine at Albany Hospital (N. Y.), and now moves to a residency in psychiatry, Ilion.
We apologize for the fact that in our last issue, we incorrectly reported the death of Wallace Ray Austin, '13, of Spencerport. As we have been rather vehemently informed, he is very much alive. The erroneous report arose from a most unfortunate clerical error.

Veterans Administration Hospital, Hines, Ill.

Assistant resident in obstetrics at Charles S. Wilson Memorial Hospital, Johnson City, N. Y., is Charles S. Nessa, previously an intern at University of Minnesota Hospital, Minneapolis.

David H. Walworth has entered the Navy for one year, having completed a rotating internship at Evanston Hospital, Evanston, Ill.

Raymond Kirby West is completing a rotating internship at University Hospitals, State University of Iowa, Iowa City; next stop will be Rochester, with an internship in surgery at Highland Hospital.

In Providence, R. I., Ralph C. Monroe has a two-year, rotating internship at Rhode Island Hospital.

Four graduates of 1948 are to be interns in medicine the coming year. Thomas W. Moir is senior intern in medicine at University Hospitals, Cleveland, Ohio. Alfred Sandfippo is intern in the Department of Medicine, University Hospitals, Minneapolis. John L. Isley, completing a year as rotating intern in July, has become medical intern at Baltimore City Hospitals, Baltimore. Charles M. Ross, after completing an internship at the University of Illinois Hospitals, Chicago, will be intern in medicine at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis.

William G. Wasson, who has been intern at Evanston Hospital, Evanston, Ill., is now at Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio.

At Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit is M. Kirk Miller, Jr., intern.

Teaching physiology is J. B. Mohney, assistant professor at the Medical College of Alabama, Birmingham, Ala. In addition, he is intern at Jefferson-Hillman Hospital.

IN MEMORIAM

Joseph M. Cochran, '96, member of Delta Upsilon, died April 2 at his home in Lockport. He was 77. After leaving the University he was sales manager of the Niagara Cotton Co. and in 1912 became general manager of the Cochran Box Co. of Lockport, a position he held until his retirement in 1924. He was organist and chairman of the board of trustees of the Christian Science Church of Lockport.

Charles T. Crouch, '18, member of Delta Kappa Epsilon, president of Sibley, Lindsay & Curr Co., died June 13 while on a business trip to New York City. He was 53. He had been in ill health for many months, and earlier this year had undergone an operation and long hospitalization. He had left the UR in his junior year and joined the Army, serving overseas in World War I as a first lieutenant in 310th Infantry, 78th Infantry Division. He was felled in a gas attack. On his return to Rochester, he entered the employ of the department store, Rochester's largest, in the wrapping department. In a series of rapid and steady promotions he became a salesman, office worker, buyer, merchandise manager, and in 1932, general merchandise manager. He was elected to the board of directors in 1939, vice-president in 1940, and president in 1946. He was also president of Frederick Atkins, Inc., second largest privately-owned cooperative buying office in the country, serving 35 stores.

Mr. Crouch, who lived at 215 Sandrigham Rd., was active in community affairs, a director of Highland Hospital, director and past president of Rochester Hospital Service, and a member of numerous clubs. Surviving are his wife, Florence Ryder Crouch; a daughter, Mrs. Alexander D. Zoller; and two grandchildren and three sisters.

Dr. Elliott M. Hague, '93, member of Delta Upsilon, died May 6 in Buffalo. He had been a physician and surgeon in Rochester for half a century before retiring and moving to Buffalo several months ago. He received his medical degree from the University of Pennsylvania in 1897 and began practice in Rochester the following year. He was a member of the staff of Genesee Hospital. He leaves two sons, Dr. Elliott B. Hague of Buffalo and Lt. Cmdr. James D. Hague of North Carolina, and six grandchildren.

Robert S. Maloney, '48, died March 25 at his home, 180 Merrick St., Rochester, of nephritis. He had majoried in chemical engineering and had been active in the Geneseeans, Men's College fraternal organization. Since graduation he had worked at Rochester Products Division of General Motors. Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Maloney; a brother, David, and his grandparents.

Willard W. Williams, '96, member of Theta Delta Chi, died November 21, 1948. He lived at 8718 Colonial Rd., Brooklyn.

COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

Cordelia Anne Lockwood, '22, died at her home in Poughkeepsie, New York, on March 1. She attended Vassar College and Columbia University where she received her master's degree in 1925. As a teacher in the Rochester public schools she primarily worked with pupils with defective speech and other handicaps. She was for a time on the faculty of the Columbia School in Rochester. She later taught at Northrop Academy, Minneapolis, and St. Mary's School, Burlington, N. J. She was instrumental in founding the Dutchess County Philharmonic Society. Her sister Helen survives.

Thelma Rankin Zoller, '29, died May 20 at her home in Rochester. At the time of her death she was secretary to Charles R. Dalton, director of admissions at the University. She had worked for the UR from the time of her graduation, first as secretary to Hugh Smith, alumni secretary and director of publications, and then as secretary to her successor, Dalton. Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Rankin, her husband, Ross G. Zoller, and a sister, Mrs. R. Bruce Thompson.

Lurana G. Martin, '20, a native of Newark, N. Y., and a former school teacher, died January 10 in her home at Port Gibson, N. Y. after a long illness.

Mary Adams Bickel, '39, died unexpectedly on March 29. At the time of her death she was living in Oak Park, Ill., and was a very active member of the Chicago alumnae group. She leaves her husband, Edward, '39, and two children.
WE WANT YOU TO GET Greatest POSSIBLE Benefit

We want to do more than the job of supplying the people of this community with dependable, low-cost electric service. We want to help you to get the greatest possible benefit from your use of our service. Call us whenever you think we can help you.

Rochester Gas and Electric
Always at Your Service

TWO World-Famous Beverages

CANADA DRY
GINGER ALE and WATER
Chesterfield is MY cigarette, I smoke them because they’re Milder

Bob Hope
Starring in Sorrowful Jones
His latest Paramount Picture

Prominent Tobacco Farmers Smoke Chesterfield

William P. WISEMAN, DANVILLE, VA. Says:

"I've been smoking Chesterfields ever since I've been smoking. I like their taste and real mildness. They pay top prices for the best cigarette tobacco."

Always buy em by the carton save time save trouble save money

Chesterfield

Make yours the Milder Cigarette . . . They Satisfy